To the Lords and Commons Assembled in P A R L I A M E N T.

MY Lords and noble Gentlemen, You have fully expressed your Zeal to God and his Church in making Laws for Unity in Faith, and Uniformity in Discipline: for, as our Saviour said, A Kingdom divided against itself cannot stand; so the same may certainly be said of a Church, the reason being the same for both: And I call the searcher of all Hearts, the God of Life and Death, to witness, that I would most readily, yea most joyfully sacrifice all I have in this World, my Life and all, that all Non-Conformists were reduced to our Church. But it falls out most sadly that your Laws have not the desired Effect, our Church is more and more divided; such is the perverse Nature of Man, Nisi in Veritatem, obstinately to oppose Authority, especially when they can pretend the colour of Religion and Conscience; this carries so great an applause among the Vulgar (still envious at Superiors) that it is, as it were Nuts to an Ape, sweeter to them than any other thing this World affords: for the enjoyment of this, they will endure any thing, Imprisonment, loss of Goods, yea sometimes of Life also. And this is it which mainly nourishes our Divisions, gives great advantage to the growth of Popery, and threatens the total ruine of our Church. Many who were formerly very zealous for our Church, seeing these our sad Divisions, and not seeing those of the Roman Church, nor their gross Superstitions (which their Priests conceal till they have got men fast) are easily seduced by their pretended Unity and daily fall from us. This makes my Heart to bleed, and my Soul with Anguish ready to expire, rather than live to see that dismal day of Relapse into their manifold Idolatries. Wherefore I humbled my Soul before God in Fasting and Prayer, begging daily the Assistance of his holy Spirit, to direct me to some healing Salve for these our bleeding Wounds: and therefore I have some reason to believe, that what is contain'd in these following Papers, comes from the great goodness of God, who never fails those who seek him in humility and sincerity both, which I am confident I have done ; and this I am sure of, that no Worldly designs have moved me to this, but have often tempted me to give it over ; I am also sure, that there is nothing contain'd therein, which is contrary to the known Laws of the Land : in this only I confess I have transgressed, in putting it forth without License ; and for this I beg of God and you, as Naaman did of Elisha, In this thing the Lord and you pardon your Servant ; and I hope you will say unto me as Elisha did unto Naaman, Go in Peace ; and I farther hope this shall not cast such a prejudice upon it, as to make you cast it by, or read it with disgust. I do not expect you should approve any thing upon the account of my seeking God in this, but upon my Reasons alledged ; nor do I expect that upon my Reasons you should approve all : yet I beseech you seriously consider all, and God of his infinite goodness direct you to that which may make for the Unity of our Church, by yielding to weak ones (if not wilful ones also) as far as your Reason and Conscience will permit : Sure you cannot so loath all Condescension, as not to loath more, and detest Papal confusion, which certainly comes on apace by our Division ; and of two Evils, both Reason and Religion requires us to chuse the less ; now doubtless you cannot think Condescension (if evil at all, sure not) so evil as Papal Idolatry, and that Papistry is Idolatry, is so clearly proved by our Learned Dr. Stillingfleet, as it were lost labour to say more of it. Condescension may seem in some respects imprudent, but whether in this conjuncture of Affairs imprudent, I beseech you again consider well. The wisest Men have changed their Counsels, and resolves upon second Thoughts, much more upon Experience, & approaching Evils not at first discovered. It's a common thing with Princes when they find their main Enemies Power encrease much, to make Peace with lesser Enemies, on Conditions never before to be endured ; Self-preservation being the prime principle in all Creatures rational and irrational, springing from Nature itself, it should in Nature and Reason over-balance any other Consideration ; and whatever is done to this end, if not successfully done, must needs be wisely done. I most humbly beseech the All-wise God, and sole giver of Wisdom, to pour down his Holy and Wise Spirit upon you. Amen.

TO the READER.

Christian Reader, so I term you, hoping you have in some measure the Spirit of Christ, and desire it more, the Spirit of Meekness, Humility, Charity, not to censure my errors, and envenom against them, but to pity and endeavour to rectify them, if you find any; and I assure you in the word of a Christian, I shall be far more ready to recant, than to vent an error: If you be not thus Christianly disposed, I earnestly beseech you read no further, for I am sure you will be displeas'd with it: and can you think it Wisdom to run your self into displeasure? enjoy your present quiet, and let me rest. But if you be so Christianly disposed as I mentioned, then I as earnestly beg of you to proceed, to discover my errors and amend them. But perchance you will ask who I am, why did I not tell you, by putting my name to the Pamphlet? I will ingenuously confess the cause. I am a weak man, of great Passions, not able to bear Commendations or Reproach; my small ability puts me out of danger of the first, but in great fear of the later. Why then was I so forward to publish my weakness? to have it cured; yet truly I have not been very forward, for it is above two Years since I had these thoughts, in which time I have read and conferred all I could to discover if I were in an error, but for all I yet could meet with, do not find it so, but hope all I say is truth, and that it may be useful to the Publick, in this present conjuncture of affairs. Therefore I proceed, and in the next place most humbly beseech all that read this, to lay aside all bias of interest or education, both are very great, I am sure I found it so very long before I could master them, and that of education most difficult; were it not so, there could not be that difference of opinion in Christian Religion, all allowing the Bible for the Rule of Faith, the Papists themselves do not reject it but add to it the Authority of the Church. I verily believe there are thousands of Papists, Lutherans, Calvinists; both Learned and Religious, who would lay down their lives for the truth they profess, and yet are divided in opinion merely by education, having in their youth so imprinted their own opinions in their minds, as you may sooner separate their body than their opinion from their Soul. Nay, I have heard that among the Turks there are many wise and moderate Persons that are as Zealous to maintain their ridiculous Alcoron as we our Bible; which cannot proceed from any thing but the strong bias of education, which so wheels about and intoxicates their brain. And to say somewhat more particular of our own Nation here, those that have been educated in that way as to sit at the Communion, and baptize their Children without the Cross, had rather omit those Sacraments than use kneeling or the Cross; and those that have been educated in Kneeling and Crossing, though they acknowledge they are meer Ceremonies indifferent, yet had rather omit the Sacraments, than omit the Ceremonies, just as if a man had rather starve than eat bread baked in a Pan, because he hath used bread baked in an Oven. So that Religion in many is really but their humor, fancy passeth for reason, and custome is more prevalent than any argument. This is the thing which makes me fear I shall meet with very few that will calmly and indifferently consider what I write, but will presently startle at it as new and cross to their Genius, or to their interest, or their reputation, which they value above all, I mean the esteem and and kindness of their best Friends and Acquaintance, whose taunts and reproach they cannot bear; but I humbly beseech them to pause a while, and lay it by till the passion be over, 'till they have mastered all these difficulties. I beseech them to set before their eyes the Beauty, the Honour, the steadfastness of Truth, the Comfort, the Delight, the everlasting felicity of a clear and rectified Conscience; then resume it and consider again. But they cry Pish, 'tis not worth it, 'tis a ridiculous toy, and savours something of the Sectarian: I grant there are some things among the Sectarians I approve of, I will not reject and condemn any truth uttered, or any good action performed, though said and done by the Devil. I consider the things, and if good, embrace them, whoever utters them, though I detest his errors in other things; You will say the same; then I beseech you do the same: Consider what I say simply in its self, whether the Papists or Anabaptists say the same, it matters not; I hope you will not reject Christ because they both profess him. But if after all your serious, patient, unbiaſt consideration, you find it an erroneous contemptible Pamphlet, yet condemn not the person that wrote it in the sincerity of his heart, lest you receive the same measure again from Christ, who hath assured us, that shall be his rule, to meet unto us the like. Christ died for the Salvation of my poor soul as well as yours, condemn it not therefore, but endeavour to rectifie it; if God hath given you more Knowledge and Wisdome than me, be not high-minded but fear, and let him that stands take heed lest he fall. Thus I pray for you, do you the like for me, and however we differ in Opinion, let us accord in Charity, and in Christ Jesus the Redeemer of us all. Amen.

Concerning

Concerning Articles of Faith.

THAT which we commonly call the Apostles Creed, if it were not composed by them, yet certainly by Primitive and Apostolick Men, and proposed as the Sum of Christian Faith, the Sum total necessary to Salvation: It can't be supposed they left out any thing which they thought necessary to Salvation, they might as well have omitted half, or all: As one Commandment broken is the same in effect with all, so one necessary Principle of Faith denied, cancels all, and shuts out from Heaven. When I speak of believing the Apostles Creed, I do not mean, that we believe all there contained with a Divine Faith, because it is there contained; for we have no assurance that the Apostles composed that Creed; but we are sure all that is in that Creed, is evident in Scripture to any common understanding; therefore we believe all with a Divine Faith. But I mention this Creed only, to shew that the Primitive Church received this as the sum total of Faith necessary to Salvation; Why not now? is the state of Salvation altered? If it be compleat, what needs any other Articles? You would have men improve in Faith, so would I, but rather intensive than extensive, to confirm it rather than enlarge it: One sound Grain of Mustard-seed is better than a bushel of unsound chaffie stuff. 'Tis good to know all Gospel-Truths, and to believe them, no doubt of that, but the Question is not what is good, but what is necessary. I pray remember the Treasurer to Candace, Queen of Ethiopia, whom Philip instructed in the Faith; his time of Catechizing was very short, and soon proceeded to Baptism. But Philip first required a Confession, of his Faith, and the Eunuch made it, and I beseech you observe it; I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God: And straitway he was baptized. How? No more than this? No more; This little grain of Faith being sound, believed with all his Heart, purchased the Kingdom of Heaven: Had he believed the whole Gospel with half his Heart, it had been of less value in the sight of God. 'Tis not the Quantity, but the Quality of our Faith God requireth. But sure the Eunuch was more fully Instructed; It may be you are sure of it, but could never yet meet with any assurance of it, nor any great probability of it; I am sure he saw Philip no more, and I am sure Philip required no more, but baptiz'd him on this, and had the Eunuch departed this Life in the same instant that Philip parted from him, I believe I have better assurance that this Faith would have saved the Eunuch, than any man hath that he ever was taught more: See 1 Joh. 4. 2. Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: But the more the better still I grant, though no more necessary. Hast thou more Faith, have it to thy self before God: Happy is he who condemneth not himself in the thing which he alloweth; happy is he who is thankful to God for having received much, and despiseth not him that hath received little: God dispenseth his Gifts and graces according to his free Will and Pleasure: nor doth he require more of any Man than according to the proportion he hath given, no more should we.

Nothing hath caused more mischief in the Church, than the establishing new and many Articles of Faith, and requiring all to assent unto them. I am willing to believe, that zealous Men endeavoured this with pious Intentions to promote that which they conceived Truth; but by imposing it on the Dissenters, caused furious Wars, and lamentable Blood-shed among Christians, Brother fighting against Brother, and Murdering each other. Can there be any thing more irrational than to endeavour to promote the truth of the Gospel contrary to the Laws of the Gospel? To break an evident Commandment to establish a doubtful Truth? I say, doubtful to him on whom it is imposed, tho' seeming clear to him that imposes it. If it were fully express'd in Scripture-words, there would need no new Expression, no new Article; if it be not fully express'd in Scripture, but deduc'd from Scripture-expressions, then what one Man thinks clearly deduc'd, another may think not so; I mean, not another ignorant and weak, but as learned, and as able. What more common than in Divinity and Philosophy Schools, one cries, this is a clear Demonstration; another cries, no such matter, but flatly denies it? Mens understandings are as various as their Speech, or their Countenances, otherwise it were impossible there should be so many understanding and moderate, yet, and conscientious Men also, Papists, Lutherans, Calvinists, all in such Opposition one against another, all believing Scripture, yet so differing in the deductions from Scripture. Truly, I think him very defective in Charity; however he abound in Faith, who thinks all Papists, or Lutherans, or Calvinists maliciously, or wilfully blind.

As for my part, I think nothing can be more clearly deduc'd from Scripture, nothing more fully express'd in Scripture, nothing more suitable to Natural Reason, than that no Man should be forc'd to believe, for no Man can be forc'd to believe; you may force a Man to say this what, but not to believe it. First, as to Reason: If you bring a Man an evident Demonstration, and he hath a Brain to understand your Demonstration, he can't but assent to it. If you hold a clear Printed Book with a clear candle to a man of clear Eyes and able to Read, he will certainly Read; but if the Print be not clear, or the Candle, or his sight not clear, or he not Learned to Read, can your force make him Read? And just so it is with our understanding, which is the eye of our Soul, and a demonstration being as a candle to give Light; if then your demonstration or deduction, or his understanding be not clear, or he not Learned, you may with a Club dash out his brains, but never clear them. He then that believes the Scripture, can't but believe what you clearly demonstrate from Scripture; if he hath clear brains, if he hath not, your force may puzzle and puzzle his brains more by the passion of anger and hatred, make him adhere you and your Arguments, but never lovingly embrace you or them; and thus you may hazard his Soul by hatred, and your own Soul also by provoking him to it, but never save his Soul by a true belief. But perchance you will conclude, he doth not believe the Scripture, because he doth not believe your Arguments from Scripture, (a strange conclusion) but what then? would you, can you force him to believe the Scripture? Can you drive Faith like a Nail into his Head or Heart with a Hammer? Nay, 'tis not in a mans own power to make himself believe any thing farther than his Reason shews him; much less Divine things; this is the peculiar Work of Grace; and if Faith be the gift of God, your Argument cannot give it, nor your Hammer force it; Arguments may be good Inducements, and if right, will prevail with those to believe whom God hath ordained to Eternal Life, but no other; Preaching the Word is the means God himself hath appointed, but as for force, I can find in the Gospel either commandment or countenance given for it. If the Scripture command to speak the truth in love, to instruct our Brother in the Spirit of Meekness; if we are to pray and beseech him him to receive the Grace of God, can any thing be more contrary to Scripture Rule, than force and violence? To what purpose then is force, since it cannot make him believe the Gospel? And if he doth believe the Gospel, he will, I am sure, he cannot chuse but believe what you clearly shew him is contained there (supposing his brain to be clear); and I am also sure, if he believe what is clearly contained, he need not believe any thing else.

 The Scripture is our Rule of Faith complete and full, the Scripture it tells us so, John 20. 31. These things are written that you might believe, and believing ye might have Life; and our Saviour tells us, that if we have External Life, John 5. 39. and 2 Tim. 3. 15. *St. Paul tells us, The Scriptures are able to make us wise unto Salvation, through Faith which is in Christ Jesus; all Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in Righteousness, that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works. And I beseech all men further to consider what is said, Deut. 12. 32. Thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it; and likewise how they will avoid the curse in the last of the Revelations, if they add to the words there written; and surely 'tis the same crime to add to any other Book of Scripture. If it be answered, They do not require us to believe it to be Scripture, I reply, They require men to believe it as Scripture, with Divine Faith, which is as bad, they make their own words equal with Gods Word; or if they say, they require not Divine Faith, then I am sure it is no matter of Salvation whether I believe it or no, humane Faith cannot save. Thus you see how impertinent, how irrational, how impious it is, to require a man to believe any thing more than is clearly contained in Scripture; and if it be clearly contained there, he that believes Scripture and sees it clearly contained there, can't but believe it; if he do not see it clearly contained there, you can't force either his sight or his Faith. Your force may make him blinder; but never see clearer; may make him an Hypocrite, no true Convert.

Again, I desire all men soberly to consider. Are not the prime and most necessary Principles of Faith, the Trinity, three Persons and one God, the Incarnation of Jesus Christ, the same person to be God and Man, the Resurrection of the Dead, that we shall rise with the same Body, when one body may be eaten and converted into several bodies, and such like; Are they not things far above the highest reason and sharpest understanding that ever had Man; yet we believe them, because God (who cannot lye) hath declared them: is it not then a strange thing for any man to take upon him to declare or tittle more of them than God hath declared, seeing we understand what is declared? I mean we have no comprehensive knowledge of the matter declared, but only a believing knowledge, our Faith not our reason reaches it: the Apostles by the Scriptures teach us this, not the Schools by Syllogisms. If then our Reason understands not what is declared, How can we by Reason make any deduction by way of Argument from that which we understand not? As for Example: Some hold, That the Holy Ghost proceeds from the Father and the Son; some, that he proceeds from the Father by the Son. I pray, Doth any man understand how the Holy Ghost proceeds from the Father, from the Son, or by the Son? no certainly: how then can he affirm or believe a tittle more of the Holy Ghost than the Holy Ghost hath declared, seeing, as I said, he understands not at all what is declared? Discourse must be of things intelligible, though Faith believes things not intelligible. Can any man prove, that Rotation and Circulation are all one, who understands not what Rotation or Circulation is; the like may be said of Procession or Mission of the Holy Ghost. The Scripture plainly tells, That the Holy Ghost proceeds from the Father, and that he is sent by the Father, that he is sent also by the Son; but whether he proceeds from the Son, or by the Son, the Scripture is silent, and I am therefore ignorant, having no knowledge at all of any Divine Mysteries, but from the Scriptures. I grant, That by rational Deductions, and humane way of Argumenting, 'tis probable, that the Holy Ghost proceeds from the Son, as from the Father; but if in Divine Matters we once give way to humane Deductions, a cunning Sophist may soon lead a weak Disputant into many Errors. By humane Deduction you may infer, that the Son is inferior to the Father as begotten by him, the Holy Ghost inferior to both, being sent by both; with us the less is sent by the greater; by humane Deduction, from three distinct Persons you may prove three distinct Substances; I hope you will make no such Inferences in the Divine Persons. Again, What a business have the School-Men made about these Words of our Saviour, This is my Body: with their predicatum, and subjectum, and copula, and individuum vagum, in the pronoun Thu. Innumerable are their intricate imperinencies in this matter, & in their conclusions. The Papists hold Christ to be present in the Sacrament, Transubstantialiter; the Lutherans, Consubstantialiter; the Calvinists, Sacramentaliter; and yet all confess, they understand none of these ways; as St. Paul saith, Desiring to be Teachers, they understand not what they say, neither whereof they affirm. 1 Tim. 7. Had the Scripture affirmed any of these ways, we ought to have submitted our Reason in things above Reason, though we understand them not, and 'tis reasonable so to do; but to go about to prove by Reason what is above Reason, is wonderful; and so discourse of what we understand not, is doubtless a spice of madness; and the conclusion we draw from such Discourses, must needs be very dangerous, we following the ignem fatuum, the uncertain Light of Humane Reason in Divine Matters, so totally beyond our reach. Wherefore we have no other safe way to speak of Divine Matters, but in Scripture-language, ipsisimè verba, with the very same words, according to that, 2 Tim. 1. 13. Hold fast the form of sound words which thou hast heard of me in Faith. Mark, Hold fast not only the matter of Faith, but the form of sound Words, these are safe; humane words in divine and high Mysteries, are dangerous: Man can no more set them forth in humane words, than express the Divine substance by humane Painting; 'tis the sole work of the Holy Ghost who is also Divine.

There hath not been a greater plague to Christian Religion, than School-Divinity, where Men take upon them the liberty to propose new Questions, make nice Distinctions, and rash Conclusions of Divine Matters,

Matters, tossing them up and down with their Tongues like Tennis balls; and from hence proceed all the dangerous Heresies and cruel bickering about them, falling from words to blows. The first Divinity School we read of, was set up at Alexandria by Pannamus; and from thence soon after sprang forth that damnable Heresy of the Anti-ans; which over-ran all Christendom, and was the cause of Destruction to many millions of Christians, both Body and Soul. The Heresies before this were so gross and sensual, that none took them up but the Follie or frantick People, and soon vanishing. But after this School first ill way of arguing was brought into Christianity, Heresy grew more refined, and so subtle, that the plain and pious Fathers of the Church knew not how to lay hold of it, and repress it, the School distinctions and Evasions quite baffled them, and these Sophisters, proud of their Conquests, triumphed and carried away a specious appearance of Truth as well as Learning, (or rather cunning) insomuch that many godly persons were afterwards deluded, and fell in with them, and many of their Heresies continue unto this day. This great bane of the Church took its rise from hence. Many of the Primitive Doctors and Fathers being converted from Heathenism, and having by long and great Industry acquired much Knowledge in natural Philosophy, Antiquity, History, and subtil Logick, or Sophistry, were very unwilling to abandon quite these their long studied and dearly beloved Sciences, (silly so called) and therefore translated them into Christianity, applying their School Terms, Distinctions, Syllogisms, &c. to Divine Matters, intending perchance, through indiscreet Zeal, to illustrate and embellish Christian Knowledge with such Artificial Forms and Figures, but rather defaced and spoiled it, which the Wisdom of St. Paul well foresaw, and therefore forewarned us of it, Col. 2. 8. Beware lest any man spoil you through Philosophy and vain Words, after the Tradition of men, after the Rules and of the World, and not after Christ. I humbly conceive it had been far better for them, and all Christendom had they determined with St. Paul, To know nothing but Christ and him Crucified; and not to intermingle man's Wisdom and Excellency of Speech with Divine Knowledge and Scripture Doctrine, which is to be taught by the demonstration of his Spirit, and of his Power, as it is set forth, 1 Cor. 2. Spewith Logical Syllogisms and Sophistical Enthymems; for as the Wisdom of God was foolish to the Greeks and Gentiles, so the Wisdom of the Greeks and Gentiles was foolishness to God, and destruction to his Church; who by the foolishness of preaching had overcome all their Wisdom, and captivated their Understandings in Obedience to the Faith. But when the Christian Doctors left this plain and simple way of preaching, and fell to cunning disputing, introducing new forms of Speech and new Expressions of their own coining, some approving, some opposing them, great Discords, Wars and Contentions soon followed. Had this tions, and thus having gotten footing, by degrees they lay aside their Disguises, and march on bare-faced. Therefore both Pastor and Magistrate ought to be very watchful: and oppose all beginnings ever so specious, as dangerous, or at least superfluous as I said. Let the Pastors at first endeavour by plain and sound Doctrine, to stop the mouths of Gain-sayers; but if these turbulent Spirits will not be stopt, neither by Admonitions nor Entreaties, then let the Pastors proceed to the power of the Keys; which, were it used with that Gravity and Severity, as it was in the Primitive times, would have great effect; that is, were it used in a solemn Assembly, by the Reverend Bishop and his Clergy, (not by Lay-Chancellors and their Surrogates) and the person Excommunicated and shut out of the Church, were likewise excluded from all Conversation and Commerce, every one shunning his company as a person infected with the Plague, (so it was of old; and so it ought to be now; and so it would be now, if Men made any Conscience of their ways) this I am confident would reduce many a one: But if after this, any persevere in their perverseness, then the Magistrate may doubtless by his Power, used with Christian moderation, endeavour to stop the spreading of the Contagion, and do what in Wisdom he thinks meet to preserve the purity and peace of Church and State, urging against them that Scripture, Hast thou Faith? hence it is to thy self before God, Rom: 14. 23. Or that, Give none offence neither to the Jew nor abis Gentile, nor to the Church of God, 1 Cor. 10. 32. Or that, Gal. 5. 12. I would they were even cut off that trouble you. St. Paul was not here in jest, but in great earnest, as appears by his continued fervency all along this Epistle; and doubtless he means not here a cutting off from the Church by way of Excommunication, for that was in his power to do; Why then should he wish it? Nay, they had cut themselves off from the Church before; certainly, then, he means a cutting off by the Civil Power, which then was Heathen, and therefore St. Paul would not have it made use of by Christians; for he would not allow them to appeal to unbelieving Magistrates, no nor in civil things, 1 Cor. 6. much less in spiritual things. Wherefore when St. Paul wishes they were cut off, he wishes there were a firing Power, that is, a Christian Magistrate to punish or banish those that trouble the Church of Christ with Doctrines apparently contrary to the clear Text, and such as are destructive to Christianity; I dare go no further. But as for those who keep their erroneous Opinions to themselves, who neither publish nor practise any thing to the disturbance of the Church or State, but only refuse to conform to the Churches established Doctrine or Discipline, pardon me if I say, that really I cannot find any Warrant, or so much as any hint from the Gospel, to use any force to compel them; and from Reason sure there is no Motive to use Force; because, (as I shew ed before) Force can't make a man believe your Doctrine, but only as an Hypocrite, profess what he believes not.

I know full well, there is a common Objection against this, taken from St. Austin, who was long of my Opinion, but seems to be altered on this occasion. Some Hereticks Donatists, came to him in his latter days, and gave thanks, that the Civil Power was made use of to restrain them; confessing that was the means which brought them to consider more calmly their own former extravagant Opinions, and so brought them home to the true Church. This Objection is easily answered. First, the Donatists are well known to have been a Sect, not only erroneous in Judgment, but very turbulent in Behaviour, always in Seditious Practices; and in that case I shew'd before, how the Civil Magistrate may proceed to Punishment; but our case is not in repressing Seditious Practices, but enforcing a Confession of Faith, quite of another nature. Then Secondly, to answer more particularly this story, I suppose there is no man such a stranger to the World, as to be ignorant that there are Hypocrites in it; and such (for ought we know) these seeming converted Donatists might be, who for love of the World more than for love of the Truth, forsook their heretical Profession, though not their Opinion; who, conscious to themselves of their own Dissimulation, and desirous to get favour with St. Austin, a person of great Veneration, and Authority withal, related unto him this specious Story, which St. Austin's great Charity was apt to believe, as St. Paul saith, believeth all things; and from hence concludeth, that it might be lawful to use the Power of the Civil Sword, to reduce Hereticks to the Church. But unless it can be evidenced that these Donatists Hearts were changed as well as their Profession, (a thing impossible to prove) all this proves nothing. Thirdly, Put the case their Hearts were really changed as to matter of Belief, 'tis evident their Hearts were very worldly still, groveling on the Earth, not one step nearer Heaven; our Saviour saith, An evil Tree bringeth not forth good Fruit; and sure their Hearts was evil, which was far more moved for the quiet enjoyment of this Worlds good, than for the blessed enjoyment of Christ. Fourthly, Though we farther grant, that the pruning of the Magistrates Sword did really correct the viciousness of the Tree, and made it bring forth some good Fruit; yet shall we do evil that good may come of it? God forbid, saith St. Paul. Put the case Malechus had been converted by St. Peter's cutting off his Ear, this would not have excused St. Peter's Act, which our Saviour so sharply reproved and threatened with perishing by the Sword, and gave him the reason why he ought not to use the Sword in his Cause. Thinkest thou that I cannot pray unto my Father, and he will presently give me more than twelve legions of Angels? Canst thou do any thing more prejudicial al. to the honour of my Godhead, than to think I want the help of man to defend me? And according to this may our Saviour say, Thinkest thou that I cannot pray unto my Father, and he shall give me more than twelve millions of Souls to worship my Name? or canst thou do any thing to eclipse more the power and glory of the Gospel, which I have ordained to be set up by weakness and foolishness of Preaching, and thereby to subdue both the Wildness of the Greek, and the Power of the Goules? as I my self have conquered all Enemies by Preaching, and Suffering, so must my Disciples tread in my Steps. And just so we find that the Gospel was most miraculously advanced over all the World by Preaching and Suffering for it, not by compelling others to it. It is evident, that upon preaching of the Gospel, as many as were ordained by God to Eternal Life, believed: and surely those who are not ordained by God to Eternal Life, can never be brought thither by the ordinance or power of Man: wherefore when the Ministers have preached and prayed, they have performed all they can do, the rest must be left to the Justice or Mercy of God, who hath mercy on whom he will have mercy, and whom he will be hardhearted so that the sharpest Sword in this World shall not enter their Heart more than an Adamant.

All this I say in reference to compelling men to believe or conform, still reserving to the Magistrate Power, according to Scripture, to punish evil doers, not evil believers; not who think, but who publish or do practice something to subvert the Fundamentals of Religion, or disturb the Peace of the State, or injure their Neighbour. God the only Searcher of Hearts reserves unto himself the punishment of evil Thoughts of evil Belief, which man can never have a right cognizance of, in the greatest Transgressor may be the greatest Alient. But shall the Magistrate connive he hath sufficient Warrant to punish also evil Befevers, and shall proceed to Execution; or on that pretence shall punish true Believers? the Scripture is most clear, that the Subject is bound to submit, and bear it with all Christian Patience, to the loss of Good Liberty, or Life, not only patiently, to bear it, but to rejoice in it, and being sure if he hath any true Religion, and right understanding of him, he will rejoice on his own behalf, because his Reward is exceeding great: Therefore whoever under pretence of Religion raises any Tumult, or takes up Arms against the Magistrate, to preserve him from Persecution; absolutely declares himself, either a stark Fool or a stark Atheist; either he believes there is no such Reward, or is mad to reject the opportunity of gaining it; and so at the best is fit for the Gallies, or the worst for the Gallies: Now let him chuse.

An Appendix to the former Subject

Before I leave this matter of Imposing new Articles of Faith, I desire to speak a word or two concerning the Authority of Councils and Fathers in relation to it.

When the Superstitions and the Abuses of the Popish Church, especially in the matter of Indulgences, grew to very grose, as not longer to be endured, Luther, Melancton, Oecolampadius, Bucer, and divers others opposed them; and coming to dispute with their Adversaries about their things, the Popish Doctors having no Scripture for their Errors, quoted several Fathers and Councils, to give countenance unto them. The Evangelical Doctors (so called, because they chiefly urged Evangelium the Gospel, for the defence of their Doctrine) were most of them bred up from their Infancy in the Popish Church, and therein taught even to adore all Councils and Fathers, and (Education being of great force to command and awe both the Wills and Judgments of men) made them very shy and timorous to reject that Authority which they had long revered: in modesty therefore some of the Evangelical Doctors were content to admit the Authority of Fathers and Councils for three or four of the first Centuries, some admitted five or six, whereby they were reduced sometimes to great streights in their Disputations. For though neither all, nor half the Popish Errors, can be found in the Councils and Fathers of these Centuries, yet some of them were crept very early into the Church. This Superstition of the Cross and Chrisme was in use in the second Century. The Mona- Error got footing about that time. The necessity of Infants receiving the blessed Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, came in soon after. About the fourth Century there was some touches in Oratory Sermons, by way of Rhetorical Ejaculations, like praying to Saints, but long after came to be formally used, as now in Churches: And so Superstitions came in, some at one time, and some at another. The Papists themselves do not receive all these Errors, but reject some; as that of the Milennaries, and the necessity of Infants receiving the Lord's Supper. Now I ask first the Papists, by what rule they retain some of these things, and reject others? Secondly, I ask the Evangelical, by what rule they submit to the Authority of some Centuries, and refuse others? Both will answer me, Because they believe some to be Erroneous, some to be Orthodox. Whereby tis evident, that neither submit to Fathers Authority, as commanding their Judgments; but receive their Opinions as agreeing with their Judgments; this is evidently true, and clearly rational, and fully agrees with the Rules given by some of the Fathers, thers, as St. Cyprian and St. Austin, two as generally and as deservedly revered as any in the Christian Church: St. Cyprian tells us, that the very Prepositus (which we call Bishop) is to be guided by his own Reason and Conscience, and responsible only to God for his Doctrine. St. Austin tells us, that he submits to no Doctor of the Church ever so Learned, ever so Holy, any further then he proves his Doctrine by Scripture, or Reason, and desires none should do otherwise by him; this is plain and rational dealing; had the Evangelical Doctors taken this course in the beginning, they had saved themselves from many intricate troubles which their in-bred over-reverence to Antiquity intangled them in: But sure they needed not have been so scrupulous in this matter, seeing there is scarce any one Father whose Authority the Papists themselves do not in some particular or other reject, though other whiles when he speaks for them, they cry it up to that height as if it were even a matter of Damnation not to submit unto it. I say not this as if I would have Antiquity wholly rejected, by no means, but to consult the Fathers with great regard as Expositors of Scriptures, and attentively observe what they shew us from thence. I am not of those who admire the great Knowledge in Divine Matters revealed in this latter Age of the World: I do not think there are any now so likely to discover the Truth of Gospel-Mysteries as those of ancient days: As for that saying, A Pigmy set on a Giants shoulder, may see more than the Giant: pardon me if I call it a shallow and a silly fancy, nothing to our purpose; for our question is not of seeing more, but of the clear discerning and Judging those things we all see, but are in doubt what they mean: If a Pigmy and a Giant see a Beast at a miles distance, and are in dispute whether it be a Horse or an Ox, the Pigmy set on the Giants shoulder, is never the nearer discerning what it is, which depends on the sharpness of sight, not the height of his shoulders: Now that the ancient and holy Fathers of the Church were more spiritual, and consequently sharper sighted in spiritual things, than we Carnal Creatures of this latter Age, is evident by their Spiritual holy Lives: The natural Man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned, 1 Cor. 14. And how natural, how carnal, how purblind we are, is too too visible. Besides, a purblind man near the Object, will discern it better than a much sharper sight at a greater distance, as we are: For if you ask those lofty conceited Pigmies, why they give more credit to the Fathers of the second and third Century, than to those of the sixth or seventh; they answer, Because those that lived nearer the days of Christ and his Apostles, are likelier to know their Minds better than those of remoter and corrupted Ages; the reason is good, but mightily confounds those who live at the very foot of the Hill in the valley of Darkness,

ness, and in all Iniquity, and therefore not so likely to discern the Truth of the Doctrine of Christ, preach't on the top of Mount Sinai, as those who lived in higher ascents. Wherefore I shall always kearken with due reverence unto what those Primitive Holy Fathers deliver, and the more holy and more ancient, doubtless more to be regarded. And yet seeing that Irenaeus, and before him Papirius, held to be a Disciple of St. John the Apostle, taught the Error of the Millenaries, rejected now by all the Church, why might not others do so as well as they? and therefore there can be no certainty of their Doctrine farther than they shew us clearly from Scripture, which ought to be our only Rule of Faith, as I shewed before. But in any point of Religion, either of Faith or Discipline, if after diligent and humble search of Scripture, the matter be doubtful, then certainly I would so much reverence Antiquity as to embrace what I found approved of by the greater number of ancient Fathers; and what I found generally approved by them, though my own Judgment did much incline to the contrary, yet I would receive it, unless it appeared to me flatly opposite to Scripture, which we believe to be the word of God; then it were Damnation in me to forsake that, and hearken to the words of Fathers on Earth, or Angels coming from Heaven, till they could make me understand their word agreed with God's word. I must be saved by Faith in God and Christ, and not by Faith in Men or Angels. And now I shall be bold to make this assertion; This the Man who reads Scripture humbly and attentively, fasts and prays to God earnestly, consults his Pastors and Teachers carefully and modestly, and yet after all continues in some Error by blind Ignorance and mistake of Scripture (if such a thing was, or ever will be suffered by the infinite goodness of God) that Man shall sooner be saved, than he who receives a true Opinion from the Authority of Men, which he soberly conceives to be contrary to Scripture; for 'tis all one to him, as if it were really so; all things are unclean to him that believes them unclean, so all things are damnable to him that believes them damnable, as he must do who believes them flatly contrary to Scripture. Let no man count me a Libertine in Faith, because I would neither compel, nor be compelled to submit to the Doctrines of Men. I trust in God, no man shall out-go me in zealous Contending for the Faith once delivered to the Saints, once for all, never to receive any new Doctrine, any other Gospel than that preached by Christ and his Apostles, herein I am no Libertine; by God's gracious Assistance, neither Men nor Angels shall make me recede from one title of this, nor to embrace with Divine Faith one title more than this, for doubtless it is far greater Idolatry to believe in Man, than to sacrifice to Man; more to give him my Heart, than my hand. And yet notwithstanding all this, no Man is forwarder than my self to receive from other humane Doctrines as humane ; that is, I believe it is not only possible, but probable also, that another may have more natural Understanding, more acquired Learning than my self, and so may find out that in Scripture, or from Scripture, or by Reason, which I cannot do my self : But yet I can have no possible assurance that the Doctrine he delivers to me is absolutely true, because I have assurance that 'tis possible for him to err, and then I can have no assurance but that he may err in that very Doctrine he now delivers me. There is no Man I ever heard of or read of, to whom I could more readily submit, than to St. Austin, a Person of wonderful sharpness in Understanding, and yet of great Modesty ; no way affecting to take new Opinions, much less to impose them on others. Now I pray consider, how can we have any assurance of any Doctrine he delivers, more than another ? I mean assurance from his own Authority or Reason (what he delivers from Scripture Authority is another matter) : We believe St. Austin erred in some things whereof he was most confident ; he believed it absolutely necessary for Children to receive the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, as I said ; he believed it a direct Herefie to hold there were any Antipodes : Lactantius another great Wit, and great Scholar, believed the like, with divers others. Who then can doubt but that they might be mistaken in other things also ? Wherefore let God be true, and all Men Lyars, in this sense, to deliver Lies materially ; that is, Falsities for Truths.

What I have said of Fathers, must certainly hold good of Councils also, though ever so General, ever so Primitive ; for this and that Father may, and have erred ; surely then that and that may also err : I can have no assurance in Men, nor can I be saved by Faith in Men. The general Objection made against this, is, The Promise which Christ made unto his Church, That the Gates of Hell should not prevail against it ; and that he would be with the Apostles unto the World's end. As for that other saying of our Saviour, He that will not hear the Church, let him be to thee as an Heathen and a Publican : I can't but wonder that Men of any Brains or Modesty should so grossly abuse this saying, spoken of several differences between Man & Man, to be referred to the termination of the Church, that is the Congregation of the Faithful, which they usually, and by Order should assemble in ; and refer this to the Church in general Matters of Faith, not in the least pointed at there. Wherefore I pass this over as very impertinent, and proceed to answer the former Objection of more weight ; yet no way concluding as they would have it : No Man in the Christian World can more firmly believe than I do, That the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it, and that Christ will be with his Church unto the end of the World ; but I do not believe, nor am I bound by Scripture to believe such Propositions positions as the Romish Church makes of this place. By what Authority doth the Romish Church challenge themselves, to be Expositors of Scriptures more than other Churches? I find nothing for it in Scripture, which is my Rule of Faith. I proceed then to the business of General Councils. Whether they may err in some points of Faith; and why not? All the Evangelical Doctors grant the later General Councils have erred: If so, why not the former? What Promise had the former from Christ more than the later? What Period is there set in Scripture for their not erring? Or what Promise is there at all, for any not to err? The Gates of Hell shall not prevail against the Church, I grant; What's this to a General Council? Not the thousand part of the Clergy, nor the thousand thousand part of the Church, which in Scripture is always put for the whole Body of the Faithful, though of late it be translated into quite another Nation, and taken for the Clergy only. But you will say a General Council is the Representative of the whole Church: What then? What Promise is made in Scripture that the Representative shall not err? You further urge, if the Representative err, 'tis probable the whole Church will receive their error. I answer, We are now treating of Matters of Faith, which must not depend on human probabilities, but divine certainties. Besides, 'tis not so probable the Church will receive the Error of the Representative. We know the whole Church hath not received a Truth determined by them, much less an Error. And, I pray, have not Councils been against Councils? Put then the case, a General Council should err in some Matters, you can't therefore say the whole Church hath erred, the Gates of Hell have prevailed against the Church. I pray consider, can you truly say, the Giant Turk hath prevailed against the Christian Army, because he hath kill'd the thousand part of it? And yet the greatest General Council holds a less proportion to the whole Church. But I will grant yet more: Put the case the whole Church should deviate into some erroneous Superstitions, had the Devil therefore prevailed against it? Can I say, I have prevailed against another Man, because I gave him some slight hurt in his Leg or Thigh? as long as his Head, his Heart, his Arms are whole, he will be as able to fight and wound me as bad or worse; till the Devil can so wound the whole body of the Church as to destroy the Vitals, the Fundamentals, and make it no Church, the Gates of Hell can't be said to have prevailed against it. Now God be blessed there have continued all along several Churches as great or greater than the Roman Church, which have still maintained in defiance of Satan, One God, one Father, of whom are all things, and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things: Several other sound Doctrines of Christianity; how then hath Satan prevailed, when so many millions have waged

War against him, and upheld the Kingdom of God and his Christ? The Scripture plainly tells us, that in the days of Anti-Christ's great power, the Church shall be driven into the Wilderness, scarce visible in the World; neither Pope nor Devil hath yet so prevailed, but as then Christ shall have, so Christ hath still had a Church, warring against Satan. Sure no learned Papist will deny, but that about the second Century, the Millenaries were far the greater part of the Church, scarce any writing Doctor in those days but had his Error. Did Satan then prevail? And in St. Austin's days the necessity of Infants receiving the Lord's Supper was so general, and held so necessary a Principle, that it was made use of to prove the necessity of Infant Baptism, this Sacrament being to precede the other: in those days a Lanthorn would have been necessary to find out a Church without this Error: Did Satan then prevail? But say you, No general Council determined those Errors; Why? because none was called about them; had any been called, who doubts but that they would have avowed that in the Council, which they all taught in their Churches: No, the Spirit of God would have preserved them from it: Shew me that promise in Scripture; if God's Spirit did not preserve them from teaching the whole Church so, I fear the Spirit would not have preserved them more in Council than in Congregation, where all sucking in this Error from their Infancy, would hardly have quitted it by a determination in Council. I humbly crave pardon for this bold presumption, being led into it by the bold assertion of the Papists, telling us, without warrant, how God will preserve their Councils from Error, as if they had been of his Privy Council, We are not to search into God's secret Councils for what he will permit, or why he permits this or that. I search only into his declared Promises, and with all the search I can possibly make, I can't find any such promise to General Councils, as not to Err; no, only that the Gates of Hell shall not prevail over his Church to destroy it, which he hath heretofore made good, and I am sure will to the end of the World; but beyond his promise I am not sure of any thing, though it seems ever so rational. God will not endure to be fetter'd with Sophistical Sophisms, and Humane Consequences; and therefore I am afraid to wander from his wise and holy Word, and trust to the Doctrine of Men seeming ever so wise, ever so holy; I reverence their Persons; but can't believe in their Doctrine: I am taught to believe only in God, not in the Church; much less in any Member, or Congregation, or Council; but to believe the Holy Catholic Church; that is, that God hath had, now hath, and will have to the Worlds end, a select company of Faithful ones, confessing and serving him; To whom be Honour and Glory for ever. Amen.

Heaven will the most joyful reward believe, and shall that man who will

Concerning Ceremonies, and Church Service.

First as to Ceremonies, I wonder men of any tolerable discretion should be so eager either for or against them; our Salvation no way depending on them, but much hazarded by our contention about them, breaking Peace, the principal thing recommended to us by the Gospel of Peace; sure both are very sinful. For my part I think all Subjects are bound in Conscience to conform to the established Ceremonies of that Church, whereof they are Members, unless there be any thing flatly against the Word of God, for to disobey our Superiours is directly against the Word of God, 1 Pet. 2. 13. Submit your selves to every Ordinance of man for the Lord's sake. And therefore he that doth not submit, had need have as clear an Evidence of Scripture, that the thing he rejects is directly contrary to the Word of God, otherwise he breaks an evident Commandment to satisfy himself in a doubtful thing, which without doubt is damnable. St. Paul requires one Brother to yield unto another in things indifferent, much more Children to Parents, Subjects to Governours. But no man that knows this World can expect all Children, all Subjects, will be dutiful and obedient; and therefore as Children are to obey their Parents, so Parents ought not to provoke their Children to Disobedience, by imposing unnecessary things, and very offensive. Yet if they do impose such things, the Children are bound to obey, unless the things imposed be offensive to God also, then they are acquitted, not otherwise. But still Parents must remember they are to give account to God for their Commands, as Children are for their Obedience: and setting this aside, Nature alone shall prompt Parents to seek the love of their Children, especially Spiritual Parents, still'd the Ministers of God, who is Love: Should not they desire rather to lead the People into the House of God by Love, than whip them in by fear? to have their Churches full rather than empty? to put on such a habit as would invite them in, and not such as will fright them out? What wife and loving Father would put on a winding-sheet on his head, to fright his weak and simple Child; I say this to the chief Rulers of the Church, not to inferior Ministers who must observe the Constitutions of the Chief, and the Chief ought to consider the disposition of Inferiours, what will be most edifying for them. As the Apostles in the beginning of Christianity continued the observing not eating of blood, and things strangled, to comply with the Jews: So the Surplice with other things, was wisely and piously retained by the Reformers from Popery, when probably many long nourished up in the Ceremonies, would not have come into the Church, had all these been cast out; but now to be zealous for them, when the People are so passionate against them, savours more of Passion likewise in Governours, than Religion; as if they had rather shew their Authority than their Charity. If they answer, That many of their Flock are as zealous for these things, as others against them, and they had rather gratifie the obedient Conformers, than the disobedient Gain-sayers. I reply, First, This is no Obedience to conform to such Ordinances of their Superiours, as they have a passion for; the Superiours in this conform rather to them, than they to their Superiours: Try their Obedience if they will submit to the taking of these things away, and then you may have more reason to gratifie them; yet you know you are rather to bear with the Infirmities of the weak, then please the strong. Love your Friends most, value the Obedient most; but love your Enemies also, endeavour to gain the Disobedient also: The first are your dutiful Sons, abide always with you, all that you have is theirs; but yet when the Prodigal, the stray Returns, rejoyce and kill the fatted Calf; yea, if he will return, leave the ninety and nine, and go seek that one that is lost. But you have no hopes of gaining him, you believe 'tis not Conscience, but Faction, and wilful perverseness keeps him off? Oh do not despair, believe better of him: Charity hopeth all things, believeth all things. But you know it is so with him; then pity him the more going headlong into Hell, yield the more to save his Soul from Hell, overcome evil with good, fetter him, bind him fast with Chains of Love; What is stronger then Love? It will overcome Schism, Faction, Sedition, any thing; it will overcome God himself, and even force God to withhold him by his merciful and powerful hand, and thus converting this perverse sinner from the error of his way, you will save his soul alive, and cover the multitude of your sins: A blessed and joyful work, whereat the Angels of Heaven will rejoyce and sing Alllujah, Amen. Oh my Fathers! my Fathers! that should Preach and Practice the Gospel of Peace and Love to your Children, vouchsafe at my humble Request, to read Rom. 14. See what great liberty that great Grandfather of the Church allows his Children, and observe in the general, how he became all things to all men, to gain some; And will not you in some things comply, to gain all? Will you restrain the liberty of the Gospel, to the rigidity of your Discipline, to lose some, to lose many, and perchance in the end, to lose all, your selves and all? Be pious, be charitable, be prudent, build your Church on a Rock that will endure Storms, and not on the Sand of Ceremony, that will both raise Storms, and probably overturn your Church ere long. But you will say, if you yield to some Dissenters in this, you must as well yield to others in that, and so by degrees abolish all your Ceremonies: I beseech you, is not the Body more than Rayment, Substance more than Ceremony? Will you not quit the latter, to preserve the former? But you will preserve both; God grant you lose not both. But you will say, This is the way to lose both; first take away Ceremonies, thereby you displease and lose your Friends, and then lie exposed to your Enemies to spoil your Goods. If your Goods be the substance of your Religion, and you preserve your Ceremonies to preserve these, then really my fear of your losing all is increas'd; this is a very sandy and dirty Foundation, can't hold out against Storms; but if Faith, Hope, and Charity, be the substance of your Religion (as I hope it is) these stood firm, and increased in the Primitive times, in the greatest Storms, when the whole world of Jews and Gentiles, were Enemies to the Church, and not one of your Ceremonies in the Church to preserve it: the simple naked Truth without any Surplice to cover it, without any Ecclesiastical Policy to maintain it, overcame all, and so would do now, did we trust to that and the Defender of it. Perchance I appear a great Enemy to the Surplice so often naming that: I confess I am; would you know why? not that I dislike, but in my own Judgment, much approve a pure white Robe on the Ministers shoulders, to put him in mind what purity becomes a Minister of the Gospel. But such dirty nasty Surplices as most of them wear, and especially the Singers in Cathedrals (where they should be most decent) is rather an intimation of their dirty Lives, and have given my Stomach such a surfeit of them, as I have almost an averfeness to all: and I am confident, had not this decent habit been so undecently abused, it had never been so generally loathed.

I will name another Ceremony which gives great Offence, with greater reason, The bowing towards the Altar, which in my own Judgment I allow and practice in some measure when I come in to such Congregations as generally use it, avoiding still to give Offence to any as far as I may with a safe Conscience. I affirm 'tis a very fitting thing to shew reverence in the House of God, and to shew it by bowing, as well as any other means, and to bow that way as well as any other way; and in bowing, if the Congregation did it to the South, or West, I should as readily conform to that. But you will say the Primitive Christians as we read, did generally bow towards the East (the Primitive Christians did so I grant, but not the prime Primitives) what then? is this any obligation on us now? the Primitive did it to the Chrystine or consecrated Oyl, yet we retain it not; is it now an in abuse, therefore left off: so hath this bowing towards the Altar by the Papists, supposing Christ corporally present there: and truly many of our Church-men give great suspicion to the People that they also believe some such thing, otherwise pray answer me; when a Minister at his entering into the Church, hath bowed to shew his Reverence in the House of God, and when he ascends up to the Altar bows again, to shew some particular Reverence in that place where that blessed Sacrament is consecrated, (let this pass for good also, though something may be said against it) yet I pray tell me, why the Reader passing from one side of the Church to the other, and the Minister passing from one end of the Altar to the other, bows again? Surely in Reverence to the King of Kings he supposes there sitting: Who can imagine any other cause of his homage? and yet I verily believe this is not the cause, but meerly a causeless custom taken up one from another; (the common beginning of all Superstitions) having no reason for it, but much against, giving thereby great scandal to weak ones, and ground of slander to malicious ones, who lay hold on any occasions to accuse them of Papistry; for certainly 'tis done with little or no reason, or with a great deal of Superstition.

Now as to that grand debated Ceremony of kneeling at the Lord's Supper, I think there is no reason to condemn those that use it, nor much reason to press it on those that disuse it. Why? Are we not to perform this great act of Devotion with all possible Reverence? I grant it: but is this to be exprest altogether in the outward posture of the body? if so, then your Opposers thus retort it upon you: If outward humility be the thing you contend for, you ought to shew it to your God in the humblest way, and that is by prostrating rather than kneeling; but if Inward Humility, sure that consists chiefly in Obedience to what Christ commanded, and to do it as he practised in: who can doubt but this is the most perfect Obedience: and you know when our Saviour instituted this blessed Sacrament, he gave his Command in the close, Do this in remembrance of me; and sure he remembers our Saviour best, who doth every thing as he did, both in Substance and Ceremony; and so we find the Primitive Christians did, observing also to receive it at Supper, as our Saviour did: but when this grew into a sinful abuse, the Ceremony was altered, to preserve the Substance in more purity: so was Kneeling abused by the Papists, and turned into great Superstition, why not therefore changed in like manner. But you kneel without any Superstition, you do not adore the Elements on the Table, as the Papists do, but Christ in Heaven. And so this man receives sitting and at Supper, without any irreverence, he doth it merely in Obedience to Christ's Command, both in Ceremony and Substance, Do this in remembrance of me: But you do not conceive Christ's Command extended to the Ceremonies, but only to the substance, and the Church hath expressly commanded kneeling as the more reverend posture, therefore you ought to obey it. I know for too, but this opinion of Christ's commanded substance and Ceremonies to be observed, and consequently conceives the Churches command contrary to Christ's; therefore he ought not to obey till you can convince his Judges; next; if you can then he ought to obey, altho' if you cannot have patience with your weak Brother, require no more of him in this matter than Christ required of his Disciples; sure Christ would not have showed such unbecoming posture; he is not drier wife, nor ever holy, could not that which Christ allowed. O God is so infinitely gracious as to accept our poor Devotions in any form, if but sincere in substance, nay, though weak and frail in the substantial part, he will not break the brittle reed, nor quench the smouldring Flax; his tender fatherly bowels yearn upon his dear Children coming to him now off. Oh then let us here to be like-minded, tender and compassionate to our weak brethren, admit their into God's Worship in any posture, if they come in sincerity of heart; reject not those whom God accepts.

I might go on thus to handle other Ceremonies, as the Cross in Baptism, the Ring in Marriage, &c. But I conceive it needless, the same reasons being applicable to all, and he that is once brought to be indifferent and unconcerned in one, will soon be dissatisfied to all. Wherefore I translate this point of Ceremonies with St Paul: He that regards it a day, regards it into the Lord; and he that regards not it a day regards not the Lord, he that eats not to the Lord, let him eat, and give God thanks; and he that eats not to the Lord, he eats not, and gives God thanks; So he that kneeleth, kneeleth to the Lord, and he that kneeleth not to the Lord, he kneeleth not. And I desire you further to observe this circumstance in St Paul's words, how he calls the zealous observer of Ceremonial Matters the weak Brother, and commands the strong, not to despise him, it being really a despicable weakness, and a childish or effeminate kind of Devotion, to be zealous in any ceremonial observance, which trifling spirits are apt to do, but in Christian Charity ought rather to pity and bear the infirmities of others. Wherefore let us be men of understanding, men in discretion, be zealous, and hold fast the substantial parts of Religion, Piety, Justice, Temperance, Charity, Truth, Sincerity, stand fast for these, not recede one hairs breadth from these, keep but our ground and fight it out like men to death against all Powers and Principalities on Earth, or under the Earth, and let us leave it to Women and Children to contend about Ceremonies; let it be indifferent to us, whether this, or that, or no Ceremony, whether kneel, or not kneel, bow, or not bow, Surplice, or no Surplice, Cross, or no Cross, Ring, or no Ring:

Ring: Let us give glory to God in all, and no offence to our Brethren in any thing.

Now if any man would be so curious as to ask why St. Paul did not determine this point, whether they should eat herbs only, or other meats also; whether regard a day or not, and establish Uniformity among them; I cannot imagine any other Reason, but merely to teach us this charitable compliance with one another, as necessary a practice as any other. Man is a very ticklish Animal to govern, he will not always be guided by Reason and Authority; Man hath a Will as well as Reason, and will have his own Will in many things, even the godly: very few are found so intirely pious as wholly to deny themselves; 'tis so high and sharp a point of Religion, as you may break the heart-strings of many in winding them up so high, and thus crack all their Religion; perchance you would find it so your selves, had the Nonconformist the screwing you up, as you them. Wherefore consider your selves, least ye also be tempted: Be charitable to the weak, proceed not so severely against them in your Courts of Judicature; but remember what St. Paul saith, Coloss. 2. Let no man judge you in meat, or drink, or in respect of any holy-day, or of the new Moon, or of the Sabbath days, which are a shadow, of things to come, but the body is of Christ: Will you then in respect of an Holy-day, Cross in Baptism, standing at the Creed, kneeling at the Sacrament, and the like; will you in respect of such shadows, Judge, Excommunicate, Sentence to everlasting Flames, a Soul that holds of the Body of Christ, believes all his holy Gospel, accords with you in one Faith, one Baptism, who acknowledges the only true God, Creator of Heaven and Earth, and Jesus Christ whom he hath sent to be the Redeemer of Mankind, which our Saviour affirms, To be Eternal Life; will you condemn such a one to Eternal Death? God forbid. My Reverend Fathers and Judges of the Church, I with St. Paul Col. 3. beseech you, Put on faithfully bonds of mercies, kindest, humbleness of mind, meekness, long suffering toward your poor weak Children, and so long as they hold fast the body of Christ, be not so rigorous with them for Shadows; if they submit to you in Substance, have patience, though they do not submit in Ceremonies, and give me leave to tell you my poor Opinion. This violent pressings of Ceremonies hath (I humbly conceive) been a great hindrance from embracing them, men fearing your intentions therein to be far worse then really they are, and therefore abhor them. Have you never observed a flock of Sheep forcibly driven over a narrow Bridge, the poor Sheep fearing they are going into some Pen or Slaughter, choose rather to leap into the River than go forwards: but drive them on gently and patiently, they will of themselves take the way you desire. Uniformity in Ceremony is a good and desirable thing, there far endavour is ; but Unity, Faith and Charity is better, and therefore if you can obtain this, be sure to preserve this ; this is the one thing necessary, choose this better part : if you cannot have both, for this force urging Uniformity in Worship, hath caused great division in Faith as well as Charity ; for had you by abolishing some Ceremonies taken the weak Brethren into your Church, they had not wandered about after seducing Teachers, nor fallen into so many gross Opinions of their own, but being daily catechised and instructed by your Orthodox and sound Preaching, they would have followed you like good Sheep ; whereas now they wander about into a hundred by-paths of Error, many whereof lead headlong into Hell. Now I beseech you in the fear of God to set before your Eyes the dreadful day of Judgment, when Christ on his Tribunal of Justice shall require an account of every word and deed, and shall thus question you : Here are several Souls who taking offence at your Ceremonies have forsaken my Church, have forsaken the Faith, have run into Hell, the Souls for which I shed my precious Blood ; Why have you suffered this ? nay, why have you occasioned this ? will you answer, it was to preserve your Ceremonies ? will not Christ return unto you, are your Ceremonies more dear to you than the Souls for which I died ? who hath required these things at your hands ? will you for Ceremonies, which you your selves confess to be indifferent, no way necessary unto Salvation, suffer your weak Brethren to perish, for whom I died ? Have not I shewed you how David and his Soldiers were guiltless in eating the Shew-bread, which was not lawful but only for the Priests to eat ? If David dispensed with a Ceremony commanded by God to satisfy the hunger of his People, will not you dispense with your own Ceremonies, to satisfy the Souls of my People, who are called by my Name, and profess my Name, though in weakness ? Or will you tell Christ they ought to suffer for their own wilfulness and perverseness, who will not submit to the Laws of the Church as they ought ? Will not Christ return ? shall they perish for transgressing your humane Laws, which they ignorantly conclude Erroneous, and shall not you perish for transgressing my Divine Laws, which you know to be good and holy ? Had I mercy on you, and should not you have had mercy on your fellow-servants ? with the same measure you meted, it shall be measured to you again : I tremble to go farther, but most humbly beseech you for Christ's sake, endeavour to regain these stray Sheep, for whom he shed his precious Blood, and think it as great an advantage, as great an honour to you, as it was to St. Paul, to become all things to all men, that you may gain some, as doubtless you will many, though not all ; and the few standers off will become the more convinced, and at long running, wearied out and gained also. Thus having reduced all into one fold in true Faith and Christian Charity, the present Generation will snatch forget, the succeeding Generation will be wholly ignorant of these error-ous Fancies: and all Antiquities being quite extinguished, wholesome edifying Ceremonies may be easily introduced again With comfort to all, which are now irksome and grievous to many. And so I pass on to the second matter: The Church-Service contained in the Book of Common-Prayer, whereof briefly, because what I said before may be applied to this also.

Concerning Church-Service.

I Will not here enter into the Dispute, whether it be lawful for a Church to have a set-form of Prayer, supposing that there are none but either highly Frantick, or highly Factionous, that affirm it unlawful; and with such I have no reason to expect, that reasonable Arguments should prevail; for enough hath been already primed to this purpose.
I may also suppose, that there is nothing contained in our Book of Common-Prayer, that is directly contrary to the Word of God: for had there been any such thing, we should have heard of it long since, which I never yet did from any sober man. And truly I might in the third place suppose that (a Book of Common-Prayer being no way contrary to the Word of God) the use of it is far more conducing to Piety, than to suffer Extemporary Prayer to be used generally in Churches; Experience hath fully declared it in our late confused times, when man should have heard in many Churches such extravagant, such wild, such rash, such blasphemous Expressions, as would drive any sober conscientious person out of their Churches. Can you with Reason expect it otherwise, when half the Churches in this Nation have not a valuable maintenance to support men of parts and discretion fit to perform so solemn and holy an Office? Had we the holiness, the zeal, the charity, the humility of the Primitive Times, when men forsook all the World, and daily sacrificed their lives for the Service of God, we might hope that God would graciously pour down upon us; as he did on them, the special gifts of Praying and Prophecyng: but now when most serve God for Gain, and would neither open, nor shut the Church doors for nought, as Malachi saith, we must not expect those Gifts and Graces. And therefore I conceive it absolutely necessary to have some form prescribed to be used by all; for were there liberty left to the more able and discreet, must would suppose themselves to be such (few discovering their own weakness); and were it left to the Bishop to License as he saw fit, it would prove a very great cause of the heart-burning among his Clergy, and hatred towards himself, yea, and Rebellion against him and the Laws. But now in Christ I humbly beseech the Governours of the Church calmly to consider, were it not better to have such a form of Service as would satisfy most? The Fathers of our Church (as I said before) when they reformed this Nation from Popery, were desirous to fetch off as many as they could, retaining for this cause all the Ceremonies and Forms of Prayer they could with a good rectified Conscience; and therefore they prescribed that form of second Service to be said at the Altar, as carrying some resemblance to the Mass, then the peoples delight, which being now the peoples hate, should for the same resemblance, according to the same rule of Reason, be now taken away. We commend our Forefathers for doing piously and wisely, and yet we will not imitate them; they endeavoured to please and gain the people, we will needs displease and lose them: certainly we cannot do our Forefathers a greater honour, than to observe their rule of Reason, to conform to the Times; and therefore they are grossly mistaken who think it a dishonour to them, for us to take away what they have established; when we keep close to the Reason wherefore they did establish it. Wise Physicians by the same rule of Reason, prescribe things clean contrary, according to the temper of their Patients, hot or cold. Some other things I could mention in the Book of Common-Prayer (though no way all in themselves, yet) fit to be altered, and would obviously appear so to every wise man, were it resolved to compose such a form as would take in most of this Nation, which I humbly conceive Governours should in Conscience endeavour, becoming all things to all men to gain some, though not all; yet happily gain all in process of time, for the reason before specified.

But though I desire such a form of Service, such Ceremonies also to be established, as may give most general satisfaction; yet I desire what is established, may be generally observed, and not a liberty left (as some do propose) to add or detract Ceremonies or Prayers according to the various Opinions and Humours of Men: for certainly this would cause great Faction and Division; those that are for Ceremonies, would run from their own Church, to others where they were used; others to some fine fancied Prayers of such as they approve of; and thus some Churches would be thronged, others deserted; and no account could be taken by the Pastor of his Congregation: Atheists also, and Papists under pretence of frequenting other Churches, would abandon all. This course (say you) would bring but few into the Church, and perchance drive some out, who having been long bred up to such and such Ceremonies, would have small devotion to frequent the Church, if all of many were abolished. To this I answer, That certainly his Religion is vain, that would abandon the Substance for want of the Ceremonies, which he acknowledgeth to be no way necessary, but only more satisfaction to his mind. Surely a very ignorant mind, who hath not learnt, That obedience is better than sacrifice and whole burnt-offerings: And surely a very uncharitable mind, who would not leave ninety and nine unnecessary Ceremonies, to bring one sinful strayed Sheep into the Congregation, and convert him from the Error of his non-conforming way. I profess I am amazed to see how many men of a very good sense in most things, so zealously erroneous in this business of Religion, seeing the Scripture so plainly declares, that nothing so covers the multitude of our sins as an act of Charity; nothing so acceptable unto God, so joyful to his holy Angels, as conversion of a sinner. Yet these men will most passionately (and pardon me if I say uncharitably and irreligiously) cry, away with these Idiot Sectaries, and mad Phanaticks, let them wander and perish in their own wild Imaginations, we will not leave one Ceremony, nor any one line of our Common-Prayer Book to gain thousands of them. No, if you alter that, we will rather leave the Church, and go to the Papists Mass. If these be not as simple Sectaries, and mad Phanaticks as any whatsoever, let God and his holy Angels judge. But as for you my Reverend Fathers of the Church, I hope you will consult with Scripture in this weighty Affair, and Model all according to the rules of Meekness, Charity, and compassionate tenderness to weak ones there set down: and endeavour with prudent Admonitions to rectify the Errors of these two zealous Ceremonists, and with fatherly bowels of condescension to win the Hearts of blind and wilful Separatists. Certainly the more understanding and powerful Leaders of them will not, cannot have the face to stand off after your charitable condescension, their populous pretences will be so confuted, their mouths so stopped, their faces so confounded, as for meer Shame, if not for Reason and Religion, they must come into our Church; and the Pastors coming in, the Sheep will follow, though some stand a while and gaze: but at length having no men of ability to lead them on in their perverse ways, the Shop-prating Weavers and Cobblers will soon be deserted, and made heartless, seeing their own naked Folly. And then shall we all joy and joyfully sing Te Deum in our Churches, and the Holy Angels in the Heavens. And then I shall most gladly sing with good old Simeon; Lord now let thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation.

Concerning Preaching.

IT remains that I now handle this great business of Preaching, wherein I fear I shall displease many, there being but few who use it according to the original Institution; and yet I had rather they should Preach as they do, then quite omit it: for certainly 'tis a necessary work for a Minister of the Gospel to Preach the Gospel. St. Paul tells us, That some Preach the Gospel out of Envy: yet he was pleased that Christ should be so Preached, rather than not Preached; and so I say of Preaching of Christ out of vanity; as it is evident many do, Preaching themselves and their own abilities, at least as they think abilities, tho' often great weaknesses, and conceited impertinences. I beseech you tell me, did not Christ and the Apostles Preach the best way? And are not we to follow their example? Who dare say otherwise? Yet many do otherwise; they take here or there a Sentence of Scripture, the shorter or more abstruse the better, to shew their skill and invention, this they divide and subdivide into generals and particulars, the quid, the quale, the quantum, and such like quack-salving forms; then they study how to hook in this or that quaint Sentence of Philosopher or Father, this or that nice Speculation, endeavouring to couch all this in most elegant Language; in short, their main end is to shew their Wit, their Reading, and whatever they think is excellent in them: No doubt rarely agreeing with that of St. Paul: I determined not to know any thing among you save Jesus Christ, and him crucified: And my speech, and my Preaching, was not with the enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the spirit, and of power, 1 Cor. 2. And I verily believe this is the reason why Preaching hath so little effect in these days, because they labour to speak the Wisdom of this World, which is foolishness with God; nor do they Preach in demonstration of the Spirit, but in demonstration of their Learning. I know full well this unapostolick way of Preaching was used by some of the Ancient Fathers, especially the Greeks, always fond of Niceties and Curiosities, and being now become Christians, (as I said before) transplanted their beloved Rhetorical Flowers of Humane Learning, into Christian Gardens; which proved rather Weeds to over-run the Seed of sound and plain Apostolick Doctrine, Humane Nature being a Soil apter to give nourishment and vigor to Humane Principles, than Divine.

vine. - But when did ever any Learned, Witty, Rhetorical Harangue, or cunning Syllogistical Discourse convert the Tythe of St. Peter's, or St. Paul's foolish Preaching; as he terms it, but the wisdom of God to those that are perfect and sound in the Faith. Who is ignorant of that famous passage at the Council of Nice? Whether resorted, with divers others, one Eminent Heathen Philosopher, offering himself (as the manner of those vain-glorious Sophistets was) to dispute with the Christians Doctors; some Bishops of greater Repute for Learning undertook him; and as they thought, clearly confuted, but no way converted him: at last rises up a grave ancient Bishop of small Learning, but of great Faith and Piety; and (with great dissatisfaction of his Brethren, fearing some gross baffle should befall this good Man) comes up to the Philosopher, and with great Magisterial Authority, recites unto him the Apostolick Creed, I believe in God the Father Almighty; and in the close calls to him, O Philosopher, believest thou all this? The Philosopher answered, I believe: not being able to resist the demonstration of Spirit and Power, wherewith he uttered those Divine Mysteries, as he confessed before them all. You will say this was a Miracle of great rarity; I grant it; but many such Miracles should we see had we the Faith and powerful Spirit of this Holy Bishop, and would endeavour to imitate Apostolical Preaching, not Philosophical Arguing, nor Rhetorical Declaiming.

We see plainly the Apostolical Preaching was either catechetical Instructions, or pious Admonitions; not tying themselves to any form, but past from one matter to another, as the Auditors condition required, not as the Preacher's fancy and reading prompt; just as the Roman Emperour Caligula, who when Delinquents came before him to be judged, condemned or acquitted them as agreed best with the current of his Oration: So these men shape their Discourse more to the Applause than Edification of their Hearers. And so much time is spent in composing these Oratory Sermons, as the Minister hath not leisure to perform a quarter of his Parochial Duty, of visiting the Sick, of admonishing the Scandalous, of reconciling the Janglers; of private examining and instructing the poor ignorant Souls; thousands in every Country as ignorant as Heathens, who understand no more of most Sermons, than if in Greek; so that the Sermon is rather a Butcher for the Wantons that are full, than Instruction to those who are starved for want of Spiritual Food; the plain and saving word of Christ, not the nice conceited word of man, which may nourish Camelions, never make solid sound Christians. There are others of a different strain, who wanting both Wit and Learning also, think to supply all by strength of Lungs, by long and loud babbling, hiding hackney from one good Town to another, and with fervency of Spirit, like a boyling Pot, running over where-ever they come. Were it a laughing-matter, who could contain to hear some Zealot Pastors talk so much of their obligation to Preach the Gospel, and that (forsooth) do it in the Pulpit twice a Sunday, counting those almost accounted that do not so, and yet have many poor Sheep in their Flock as ignorant as any Sheep, whom they never regard, never instruct in the first Principles of the Gospel; as if Preaching were tyed to the Pulpit, and the Sabbath-day. Pardon me, if I tell you a Story which now comes in my head. I chanced to be in a Lord's House on a Saturday, when a zealous Minister came in; after some Complements, and ceremonious Discourse, he told the Lord, That where-ever he was, he never failed to Preach the Gospel on the Lord's Day, as his Duty; and therefore entreated that the Pastor of the Parish might be desired to give place to him next Morning. I suspecting both his Zeal and Design (which afterwards appeared) asked him, If he had received any particular Command from Christ, to Preach at this Place, and that Hour? The Minister starting at my Question, answered, No. I replied, Sure then other Ministers had the same Obligation to Preach the Gospel as he had: And moreover, it was the Pastors particular Duty to Preach to his own Congregation on the Lord's Day, how then could he in Conscience desire the Pastor to omit his Duty? But the Lord pulled me by the Elbow, and took me off from farther pressing him; and told him, He should send to the Pastor to give him place. But to return to our business: Very few are to be found, here and there one of Piety and Discretion, that demeans himself prudently in his Office; and the Reason is this: It is grown up into a general Opinion, That none are fit to be admitted into Holy Orders, but such as have studied in the University; and if he hath learnt a little to chop Logick, he is presently deemed fit to divide the Word of Truth, and is easily instructed into a Living; and if he can bring some nice Metaphysical Speculations from Aristotle, or some Theological Distinction from Aquinas, then he is worthy of a two or three Livings or Prebends: And thus University Youths, and even Boys of no experience or discretion, are made Spiritual Pastors, the gravest and most weighty Office in the World. I beseech you, what have these Sciences (falsely so called) to do with the Gospel, where we find no one tittle of them; but rather decried as Enemies to the Gospel, as tending to vain jangling strife, and contention, nothing of edification? We had lately a brave story of the Jesuits in China, who finding the King and his Courtiers much delighted with the Mathematicks, but not very knowing in them, wrote to the General of their Order at Rome, to send them some Priests, very skilled in that Science, to Preach the Gospel there. Why did they not send for some also well skillful in Puppet-Plays? Ridiculous Creatures, shall I say, or rather then impious ! who think to support the Dignity, the Majesty, the Divinity of the Gospel with such humane Toys ! Just as if a King, having some potent Enemy, invading his Country, should, instead of leading on a stout and gallant Army against him, lead on a Maurence-dance capering and frisking most feartly, thinking thereby to appeale and gain the Heart of his Adversary. To fools and blind, we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against Principalities, against Powers, against the Rulers of the darkness of the World, against spiritual wickedness in high places, Ephes. 6. 12. And therefore the Weapons of our warfare must not be carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds, 2. Cor. 10. 4. We must then take the whole armour of God, the helmet of Salvation, the breast-plate of righteousness, the shield of Faith, the sword of the Spirit. Read also St. Paul to Timothy and Titus, setting down the required qualifications of Bishops and Deacons ; see if you can find any such Mathematick, Logick, Physick ? No, but Gravity, Sobriety, Meekness, Diligence, and the like. Were such men taken in Holy Orders, and constituted Pastors, the Church of Christ had been far better edified, and the Pastors far more revered then now they are : though Plato, Aristotle, Euclid, Scotus, Aquinas, were never known to them, so much as by name, yet they would want no Pastoral Knowledge, which is compleatly contained in Scripture : As St. Paul told Timothy, That it was sufficient to make him wise unto salvation, profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction, that the man of God might be thoroughly furnished : Mark, thoroughly furnished, without Logick, Physick, Mathematick, Metaphysick, or School-Divinity. Scripture-Divinity thoroughly furnishes the man of God for all. I speak not this in disparagement of University-Learning ; which I highly value, if rightly made use of, 'tis as useful as honourable to a Nation ; but much of University-Learning, is as useless to a Spiritual Pastor, as the Art of Navigation to a Physician ; the Pastors only requisite and compleatly qualifying Science, being according to St. Paul, To know nothing but Christ and him crucified, and to preach Christ, not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the spirit and of power : To Preach Christ as well out of Pulpit, as in the Pulpit ; in Season, and out of Season ; to the Poor, and to the Rich ; to the Simple, and Ignorant, far rather than to the knowing, to rebuke, to correct, to edifie both by word and deed.

Wherefore I most humbly beseech the Church-Governours, to remember the Original Institution of the Ministry, what kind of men the Apostles chose into it, grave elderly men, therefore stiled Elders, and known as well by that name, as Bishops, who having by long conversation gotten Experience and Knowledge to govern themselves, were made Governours of others. I grant we have Timothy for an example example of younger years, that is, young by way of comparison to the other Seniors; as a man of forty may be called young, compared to those of sixty; yet, no Youth simply, nor simple Youth: and it plain he was a person no way short of the Elders in gravity, though somewhat in years: St. Paul's general Rule was, not to admit of Novices; but all general Rules have some exceptions. Timothy was one, and a rare one, we find not another. Next, I pray consider what kind of Preaching they used, you may easily guess at their Sermons by their Epistles, full of, short Catechistical Instructions, grave Exhortations, sober Reproofs, discreet Corrections; and then tell me whether a raw Novice from the University, with all his Sciences and Languages, be fit for this, or rather a grave sober person of age and experience, having a good natural Capacity, illuminated by Scripture, Instruction, and Prayer, using also the help of grave and sound Interpreters. Really 'tis most evident that the Church is run into great contempt by the slowness and giddiness of many Ministers, who attend nothing but to make a handsome School-Boys Exercise in the Pulpit on Sundays, but never attend the other Parochial Duties, no not their own advance in Spiritual Knowledge, but give themselves wholly either to idle Studies, or idle Recreations, and are very children in Divine Knowledge and Behaviour. I do affirm this in the presence of God as a Truth; and I have known some pass for very good Preachers, that could not give a good account of the Apostles Creed, nor scarce of the Childrens Catechism; Masters of Art, but School-Boys in true Divinity; and to their Parishioners continue very Babes all their Life long.

It would make any true Christians heart bleed to think, how many thousand poor Souls there are in this Land, that have no more knowledge of God than Heathens; thousands of the mendicant condition never come to Church, and see never look after by any; likewise thousands of mean Husbandry-men that do come to Church, understand no more of the Sermon, than Brutes: Perhaps in their Infancy some of them learnt a little of their Catechism, that is, they could, like Barabas, by loose broken pieces, but never understood the meaning of any line; this is the common way of Catechising, but as time as they grow up to be Men, grow more Babes in Religion, so ignorant as scarce to know their Heavenly Father, and are admitted to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, before they are able to give account of the Sacrament of Baptism. Thus it is generally in the Country, and in the City at last, partly for the reason before specified, and partly by reason the number of many Parishes is far greater than any one Pastor can have a due care of; he cannot know half the Names on Lists of them, much less their Faith and Behaviour, which is the quite, that he may both instruct and reprove where there is need. Wherefore I humbly conceive, 'tis necessary to divide these numerous Parishes into several parts; but wishal to provide means out of them for several Ministers, for there is no hope to gain it from their Charity or Piety, which is plain Hypocrisis, seeming to zealous to hear the Word, but to contribute nothing towards it; the Minister may Preach his Heart out, and yet not get out of their Purses any tolerable Maintenance; a poor Husbandmen in the Country of Twenty Pound a Year, that gets his bread by the sweat of his brows, pays more to his Minister than a Citizen that gets hundreds a year, sitting at great ease in his Shop, and spends more in Ribbons, Laces, and Perriwigs in one year, than he pays his Minister in ten or twenty: I beseech them to consider what account they will give to their Lord and Master at that day.

But I return to the requisite qualities of a Minister, who according to St. Paul is to be a Governour, as well as a Preacher; to admonish and rebuke, as well as instruct and therefore of two Evils choose the lesser, rather Men defective in parts to Preach, which may be supplied by Homilies, than defective in Wisdom and Discretion to govern, which can't be supplied by other means. But would men be content with the true Gospel and Apostolick Preaching, doubtless there might be Persons found but fit for both, to Govern and to Preach; to Preach one God the Creator of all, one Christ the Redeemer of all, one Holy Ghost the Sanctifier of all; to Preach the Baptism of Repentance, and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper; to Preach Godliness, Justice, Mercy, Charity, Sobriety, Chastity, &c. All which will be far better performed by a grave and godly conscientious Man, well Catechised, though he never saw University, though he knew no other Language but his Mother Tongue, than by Aristotels, Seneca, Aquinas, with all their knacks of Quiddities and Qualities, Syllogisms and Enchymems, Distinctions and Subsumptions, &c. Not one Greek, or Italian, or French, of a thousand, knew any Language but his Mother Tongue, when the Gospel first flourished there; not one Indian of an hundred thousand, where St. Thomas planted the Gospel, ever heard of Plato or Aristotle; and so I may say of many other Nations, where the Gospel was planted, and Priests ordained. When God instructed Aaron and that Priesthood, when Christ instructed the Apostles and this Priesthood, not a tittle mentioned of School Sciences, or Foreign Languages. 'Tis true, the Apostles by the Holy Ghost received the Gift of Tongues, because they were to Preach to all Nations; but we find not any infusion of School Learning by the Holy Ghost, nor any more Gift of Tongues, after the Gospel once spread over the World; God thought it then needless. I pray let's be no wiser than God and his

Christ,

Christ, who converted the World by the foolishness of Preaching, but I never yet heard of any one Nation converted by the Wisdom of Philosophical Rhetorical Preaching. Mistake me not, I say that Sciences and Languages are no way necessary for common Parochial Preachers; yet I grant the Sciences, especially Historical; and Language, especially the Oriental, are very useful to the perfect understanding of Scripture, and very fit for some Ministers to study, to whom God hath given parts and means to acquire them, who may be useful to others; and the Universities are very good places to train up Youths to this purpose; but still these Faculties are no way necessary to a Parochial Cure; a small proportion of Learning, with a great deal of Piety and Discretion, is much better. Besides there is another thing much to be considered: Were there such grave conscientious persons admitted into the Ministry as the Apostles Ordained, for Preaching let up as they practised, and all other decayed: such noble honour paid unto the Ministry, as St. Paul commanded, and primitively was rendered, (such grave persons would scarce ever fail of it) then we might find thousands in the Nation that having means of their own, would Preach the Gospel to the Poor for Conscience sake. The maintenance for Ministers in most parts is so wretchedly small (and to little to be the Tythes being in the hands of Lay-men without hope of recovery) that there is no convenient support for men of Worth and Gravity, and therefore youth and striplings as wretched as put into them of meer necessity, that they lye not wholly void: whereas if men that had some Estate to help to maintain themselves, men of Conscience and convenient Knowledge, were put into the Ministry, and such Preaching the Gospel accepted of, as the Apostles and Primitive Disciples used; the Cures would be served with more Edification of the People, and Honour to the Church, than now they are.

I most humbly beseech all in the spirit of meekness and humility to consider these things, laying aside the veil of Pomp and Vanity, which shuts their Eyes, and hinders them from discovering the naked truth and simplicity of the Gospel. Tell the Searcher of all Hearts so true as I will unto all Clergy-men both double honour and double maintenance also; I can't think any thing too much for those who conscientiously labour in the Ministry. But seeing (as I said) there is no hope of regaining the Church maintenance, we in prudence should seek out such helps as may be had. And truly I have great reason to hope, that were this Rule observed of putting only grave discreet and conscientious persons into the Ministry (whether University-men or not) and that they be so fully instructed in the Doctrine of the Gospel by good Commentators, many persons of good Rank and Estate would think think it no dishonour, but rather a higher honour to enter into it, as they did in the Primitive Times; Julian peerly related to the Roman Emperor, and afterwards the Emperor himself, thought it an honour to be admitted a Reader, one of the lowest Offices in the Church. And for the better advancing this business, and bring all sorts of men with convenient Knowledge for the Ministry, I humbly conceive it very fit there should be one good, and brief English Comment of Scripture selected, and compiled out of those many voluminous Authors, laying aside all impertinent Criticisms, abstruse Questions, nice Speculations, and the like, setting down only the plain and most obvious Sense in matters of Faith and good Life, necessary to Salvation; such a Book to be set forth by Authority, with a command that no man in Sermons, Exhortations, or Catechising, teach anything contrary to it, and whatever Learning beyond that is brought into the Pulpit, let it rather be exploded than applauded; for if any countenance be given to Expositions, there will be no end, the men have to show their Learning will soon bring us again into the vain and edifying practice we now are in. I humbly conceive it fit also that the Book of Homilies be reviewed, not so correct anything in them; for they are most excellent sound Exhortations, containing the true Primitive Spirits; but to add to them whatever is wanting to the necessary Doctrine of Faith and good Manners; to teach every person how to behave himself in his several Vocation, and there commanded to be read once over every year; for I have observed several, even good and conscientious Preachers, to use quite another method, and preach on this or that Chapter, and in the whole year, yet perchance in two or three years, never preach on the duty between Man and Wife, Parents and Children, Masters and Servants, Magistrates and Subjects; or omit to treat of Pride, or Malice, or Greediness, or the like; by reason of which Omissions, several in the Congregation are ignorant in necessary Duties, though rightly instructed in many things unnecessary.

I expect that many will cry out of this as a means to introduce Ignorance into the Ministry, and a hindrance from exercising those Talents God hath distributed them with. To this I answer, first, That I had rather the Ministers should be less than the people ignorant in their Duty. But secondly, I answer, That besides Pulpit Preaching, the Minister may find enough to do to keep him from Laziness, and exercise his Gift, that is the most useful Talents of a Minister, to visit and comfort the Sick and Afflicted, to compose Differences, and reconcile Factions, to examine and instruct the weaker and colder part of his Flock, who are not capable of Pulpit Preaching, to whom they must inculcate both Doctrines and Administrations; and scarcely so, may they apprehend any spiritual matters. Experience only can raise believe how extremely dull the common people are in the Mysteries of Faith, and but little quicker in the principles of a good Life. Christ died to save these poor vulgar Souls as well as those of the Clergy and more learn'd; yet the labour of most Ministers is to entertain those that know enough, and are very lazy in Catechising those poor Souls that know nothing: let these be fully instructed, and then (for me) let them shew their Talents by Preaching as often as they please to others. All that I labour for, is, that those may have it who most want it, either by joyning such Homilies as I mentioned to be yearly read, or such Sermons to be yearly Preached: I am no Enemy to true Apostolical Preaching, God forbid I should; but to vain Scholastical useless Preaching: to have the Pastor, who should daily watch over his Flock, sit in his Study all the week long, picking from that or this quaint Author a few beautiful Flowers, and then come on Sunday with his Nofegay in his hand to entertain Ladies and Courtiers: for my part, I count this far more sinful laziness, than to read a pious Homily on Sunday, and call the week after go up and down from house to house, taking pains to instruct and exhort such as I mentioned. But these shall be called dumb dogs, yet surely by none but barking Cures, who are wholly ignorant in true Apostolick Preaching. Pardon me if I return them their due, who speak well of that they understand not. They will Object, The Apostles and Primitive Disciples did not read Homilies, but Preached themselves: Neither do I desire that any one Homily should ever be read, so as we had the true Apostolick Preaching both on Sundays in publick, and Week-days also in private, where there is need: But I am sure such pious Homilies as I mentioned, are no ways contrary to the Apostolical and Primitive Practice, and are far more useful than such Preaching that we have now a days. And I am also sure, that in the purest and most Primitive Times Homilies under another Name were read in the Churches. That is the Epistles of Apostolick gossy Bishops, written to other Churches, were read in the Congregation with great Veneration; Shall the name of Epistles make the one applauded, the name of Homily make the other reproach'd; the Contents and the Truth being the same, to stir up the People to Godliness? If this will suffice, let the Epistles be taken up to be read such or such a Sunday, and then I hope they will go far current. But you will say, The Compilers of our Homilies are not of equal Authority to those Primitive Bishops; Let that pass, but I am sure they are of far more Authority, than most of our Preachers. I pray consider, how many giddy Youths loose of our Ministry; how many of greater Age but of as little Gravity or Discretion, how many that vainly preach themselves, and their own abilities, not Christ and his Gospel, how many that preach Piously, and yet not usefully, but as I said before, many things unnecessary, omitting many necessary. Sum up all these particulars, and you will find a small remainder that preach piously and edifying also, very few to equal the Compilers of our Homilies; and then calmly consider the great use, yea, the great necessity of such Homilies. But if you can furnish all our Churches with pious, discreet, edifying Preaching Pastors, I am abundantly satisfied, and do you seal up the Book of Homilies till a new dearth of Spiritual Food, which God in his great mercy prevent. Amen.

Concerning Bishops and Priests.

W Henever unbaptized reads the Scripture, thence proceeds to the first Christian Writers, and so goes on from Age to Age, can't doubt but that the Church was always governed by Bishops, that is, by an Elder, or Presbyter, or Presbyter, or what else you please to call him, for over the rest of the Clergy with Authority to Ordain, to Exhort, to Rebuke, to Judge and Censure as he found cause: No other form of Government is mentioned by any Authority for fifteen Hundred years from the Apostles downwards. Now who can in reason and modesty suspect those Primitive Bishops who lived in the days of the Apostles, chosen by them into the Church, succeeded them in Church Government, yea, and in Martyrdom also for the Faith, as Clement, Ignatius, Polycarpus and others, who I say, can suspect them to be prevaricators in Church Discipline, and take upon them another form of Episcopal Government contrary to Apostolical Institution? These great Masters of Self-denial, who gave their Lives for the Truth, would they transmit unto Posterity a Church Government contrary to the Truth? let who will believe it, I can neither believe it, nor suspect it. And there is yet another thing very observable, that all the Orthodox Church dispersed all the World over, some parts having no correspondence at all with the other by reason of distance, some by Wars divided and made true Enemies, yet all agreed in this form of Government; and not only the Orthodox, but also the Schismatics and Heretics, who separated from, hated and persecuted the Orthodox Church, they likewise retained still this form of Government, as if all were of necessity compelled to acknowledge this, having never known, heard nor dreamed of other. And therefore nothing but necessary, if that can excuse those who first set up another form of Government to their own Matters: let them stand or fall, I will not presume to censure them; I will only say, That from the beginning it was not so, and I thank God 'tis not so with us, but as it was in the beginning, so it is now with us, and ever shall be I trust in God. Amen.

But notwithstanding all this, yet 'tis very much to be doubted whether they were of any distinct Superiour Order from, and above the Presbyters, or one of the same Order set over the rest with power to Ordain Elders, to Exhort, Rebuke, Chastise, as Timothy and Titus were constituted by St. Paul. For though they were of the same Order with the other Elders and Pastors, yet there was great reason for same to be placed with greater Authority to rule over the rest. The Scripture tells us, That even in the days of the Apostles there were several seducing Teachers, leading the people into Errors and Heresies; and more were to follow after the Apostles times, grievous Wolves in Sheep's clothing; and therefore it was very necessary to pick out some of eminent soundness in Faith, and godliness of Life, and set them up in high with great Authority, as fixed Stars in the Heavens (so styled, ps. 135) to whom all might have regard in dangerous times, as Mariners observe in their Sea-faring Journeys. But the Scripture no where expresses any distinction of Order among the Elders; we find there are two Orders mentioned, Bishops and Deacons. Of Deacons we shall treat afterwards. Let us now proceed to the Order of Bishops and Priests, which the Scripture distinguishes not, for there we find but one kind of Ordination, then certainly but one Order; for two distinct Orders can't be conferred in the same instant by the same words, by the same actions. They who think Deaconship and Priesthood distinct, the one subservient to the other, though they intend in the same hour to consecrate the same man Deacon and Priest, do they at first compleat him Deacon, then Priest? I pray let any man shew us from Scripture (as I said) Timothy or Titus, or any one ordained once, made first Priest, then Bishop, which is absolutely necessary if they be distinct Characters; and 'tis generally affirmed, though I humbly conceive they scarce understood what they affirm. I mean they understand not what these Characters are, whether Greek, Hebrew, or Heathen, or what else. But let that pass, I desire them only to shew me how a man can make two Characters with one stroke or motion, and A and B at the same instant. If then neither Timothy nor Titus, nor any other, were but once Ordained, whence can we gather these two distinct Characters, these two distinct Orders? We find the Apostles themselves but once ordained, those by the Apostles, but once ordained, and in one Ordination. When St. Paul left Titus in Greece to organize the churches, he mentions only one Ordination, that of Presbyters (so the word in Greek) no other; there's no Commission given him, to Ordain Bishops and Presbyters. Who then was to Ordain Bishops there? not Them, he had no such Command, we do not find that St. Paul himself did; and sure you will not grant that the Presbyters which Titus Ordained, that they could Ordain Bishops there, for you will not allow them to Ordain so much as Presbyters? Yet Bishops you will needs have in every City, and in Crete were very many, who Ordained Bishops for them all? Truly I can't find, nor you neither I believe. But you will say, The superiour Order contains in it virtually the inferiour Order, (let this pass at present) doth Presbyter then virtually contain Bishop? If so, then all Presbyters are Bishops. No say you, Bishop is the superiour Order, and that contains in it Presbyter. You say so, but by your leave, you are to prove so, or give me leave to say otherwise, especially seeing I have Scripture for my saying, and you have none for yours. But should I grant Bishops the Superiour, what then? we find Titus Ordained not any but Presbyters, as he was commanded by St. Paul; so we are still at a loss for our Bishops, we find not their Ordination. Or did St. Paul mistake in his Expression, and meaning Bishops in every City, said Presbyters in every City, let this pass also, and I pray let us see what you mean by this. The superiour Order virtually contains the inferiour? Do not you say they are two distinct indelible Characters imprinted in the Soul, as the School-men affirm, (give me leave to talk their Language though I understand it not) I take a fair Paper, and make an A upon it for the Character of Presbyter, and then make a B upon it for the Character of a Bishop, the same Paper contains both Characters, but sure one Character doth not contain the other. A doth not contain B, nor doth B contain A. So the same Soul may receive two Characters, two Orders, but if the two Orders be distinct, how can they contain each other, I understand no more than I did these Holy Characters; if they can print them out unto me in their proper figures, perchance I may understand them better, but as yet I ingeniously confess my ignorance. I grant in a metaphysical way of Abstraction, the superiour species contains the inferiour Genus. A man, a rational creature, contains the animality of a Horse, the inferiour creature, but doth not contain a real Horse in his belly; nor can a man beget Horses, or Men when he pleases. Nor can you truly say a Man is a Horse; I believe my School-men would take it in snuff, should I affirm any of them to be Horses, &c. But they affirm that a Bishop doth not only virtually contain the Priesthood, but is really a Priest, and can make Priests or Bishops also. Whereby you may see the answer. That the Superiour Order contains the Inferiour, is a meer Evason; if sounds in order virtually contain the Inferiour, is a meer Evason; if sounds in it were something, but really is nothing to our purpose at all; for

are not now upon Metaphysical Abstractions, but really individual Subsistencies, two actual distinct Orders, as they would have it, two distinct indelible Characters imprinted on mens Souls by Ordination, as A and B which can never be truly affirmed one of the other. A is not B, and B is not A, a Man is not a Horse, and a Horse is not a Man; so a Bishop Ordain'd only Bishop, is not a Priest, nor a Priest a Bishop, if they be distinct. Wherefore I must believe them one and the same Order, especially seeing the Scripture applies the same Name promiscuously to both; which is the second Argument of their Identity, to be one and the same.

Acts 20. St. Paul sends to Ephesus to call the Presbyters of that Church unto him at Miletum, and speaking to them, he calls them all Bishops, (in our Translation 'tis overseers) vers. 28. So in his Epistle to the Philippians, he directs to all the Saints with the Bishops and Deacons, both in the plural number, so that by the word Bishops, we must needs understand Presbyters; for Bishops as we now take the word, were never many in one City. I pray observe also St. Paul's Epistle to Titus, 1, 5. For this cause left I thee in the Crete—that thou shouldst ordain Elders in every City—if any be blameless—for a Bishop must be blameless. Is it not here evident, that an Elder and a Bishop in St. Paul's Language is one and the same; otherwise there were no coherency at all in St. Paul's Speech. If this be not convincing beyond all possible Evasion, I understand nothing of Discourse. Other such places are obvious in Scripture to every one, I need mention no more; only I desire to inform the Reader of a passage to this purpose, in an Epistle of Clemens to the Corinthians. This Clemens is mentioned in Scripture, and is he whom St. Peter appointed his Successor at Rome, and who was of so great Authority, that as St. Hierom tells us, this his Epistle was read in the Churches: Now in this Epistle Clemens particularly sets forth the constitution of the Church by the Apostles. And what Ministers they ordained in the Church; to wit, Bishop and Deacons, he names no other, which seems to me as full an evidence as can be, that there were no other Orders in the Church in those days but those two; and we are sure there was then Presbyters in the Church for Peter and John call themselves Presbyters, and St. Peter calls them Presbyters to whom he wrote his Epistle; so that if there were but two Orders, to wit, Bishops and Deacons, Presbyters must be one and the same with Bishops, or with Deacons; but with Deacons, therefore one and the same with Bishops; one Order called by two names promiscuously in Scripture, as hath been shewed before. And I desire you to observe, that of those two names Presbyter and Bishop, if there be any Dignity and Eminency exprest in one more than the other, sure it is in the name of Presbyter not Bishop, because the Apostles themselves, and the chief of the Apostles (as some would have it) who stand highest on their Pantables) are in Scripture stiled Presbyters or Elders, as the word, in our English Translation, but never Bishops as I remember. And therefore I can't but wonder why that haughty Head of the Papists should not assume to himself the Title of his pretended Predecessor St. Peter, Presbyter, rather than Bishop, unless it be by God's providential disposal, to shew his blindness in this as well as in other things, and make him confute himself by this name of Bishop, which was never given to St. Peter, no more than St. Peter gave unto him the Headship of the Church. As to the Interpretations and Answers given to these and such like Scripture-Expressions, sure I need not take any pains to confute them: for they are so weak, as that Petavius, a late Writer, and great stickler for the Superiority of Episcopacy, durst not trust to them, nor would venture his Credit to make use of them, but found out a new and rare Conceit as he conceives, that these Presbyters mentioned in Scripture, and called by both names, were all really Bishops, and that the Apostles ordained them so, as most convenient for that time: for the Congregations of the Faithful being small, there needed no Priests under the Bishops to Officiate; yet there was need of a Bishop in those small Congregations, because there were several things to be done, which were not within the power and capacity of Presbyters to act, (as he supposes), viz. the laying on of hands, and confirming the Faithful after Baptism, the vesting of devoted Women, the reconciling of Penitents, the ordaining Deacons where there was need: and adds moreover several impertinencies, as the making of Christ, consecrating Church-Vessels, &c. And Petavius mightily applauds himself in this Conceit, as the only means to clear all difficulties. Our Doctor Hammond also finding the usual Interpretations of those places of Scripture above mentioned too weak to sustain the Arguments builded on them for the Unity of Order, goes along after Petavius a great way in the forecited discourse, (though not in the latter impertinencies) and affirms that the Presbyters then were all Bishops: And so far I go with them, that all were Presbyters, all Bishops, because all was one, and one was all; several Names, not several Orders, as they would have it: And thus I humbly conceive, firmly proved by my former Argument of one Ordination, wherein two distinct Orders could not be conferred: so that still I require them to shew me from Scripture where these Presbyter-Bishops were twice Ordained, else it cannot be truly affirmed they were really and actually Priests and Bishops. As for that Answer, That though but one Order was conferred, viz. Episkopal? yet that being Superior to the Priesthood, contains this virtually in it: First, you are to prove Bishop to be superior to Presbyter, which I deny, the Apostles being peculiarly called Presbyters. Secondly, That one contains the other, I suppose is already confuted, and fully declared that it cannot be; and as I mentioned before, you do in effect confels it your selves by your practice : for if the Superiour Order so contains the Inferiour, as to enable a man thereby to act all things belonging to the Inferiour, it is a very impertinent thing to ordain a man, as you do, first a Deacon; then a Priest, then a Bishop, when you design to confer all upon him in the same day and hour.

And now I pray give me leave to examine a little Peravius his rare Conceits which he conceives will satisfie all former Objections, and will meet with no new ones. He confelles the Presbyters of the Apostles times were all of one Order, viz. Bishops, because the Priests of each Congregations might perform those several acts he mentions, which a bare Presbyter is not capable of. And why not capable of them, how doth he prove this? he brings not one tittle of proof for this out of Scripture, where there are good proofs to the contrary. St. Peter, and St. John Presbyters, could do all these and more: Ergo Presbyters are capable of all. But saith he, The Apostles were Bishops also; also is impertinent, as signifying somewhat else; whereas I say and prove 'tis one and the same Order, only another Name, it lies upon him to prove this difference of Orders; and how doth he prove it, because Presbyters can't do the acts of a Bishop? why, this is the thing in question; and thus he runs round to prove this by that, and that by this, and not one tittle out of Scripture for either. I know full well by several Canons of Councils made some at one time, some at another, the Bishops reserved many things to themselves, whereof most of them had been practised formerly by Presbyters, and the Canons were made to prevent the like for the future; for had there been such a practice, there had been no need of such Canons, whereby they reserved these things unto themselves, and for their own greatness would needs persuade the World, that Presbyters were not capable of them. I grant, that for Decency and Order in that Sense, some things may be reserved to some, other things to others to perform; but that the Order of Priesthood was not capable, is even ridiculous; that the Priesthood being capable to do the greatest things, should not be capable to do the least; he can consecrate the Souls of Men by Baptism, and the Lord's Supper, yet (forsooth) can't consecrate their Oyl, and their Cups, and their Candlesticks, which we never heard the Apostles did; or dream'd, but are the fond Dreams of doting men, just like the Pharisees, washing Cups and Platters after the Doctrines of men. Really there needs no better confutation of their distinction and superiority of Episcopal Order, than the mean ridiculous things which they ascribe unto their Bishops, and debar Presbyters of, which methinks a Presbyter should contemn, were they offered him; and therefore such Arguments as these are not worth the small pains I have taken about them.

I proceed to somewhat that seems a little better ; Petavius tells us, That the number of Christians increasing, and Factions arising in the Church, the Apostles at length, towards the end of their times, chose out of these Presbyter-Bishops, some chief Men, and placed them as Governours over the rest, and reserved unto these principal Men the Power of Ordaining ; thus far I freely consent, the Scripture declares it, and it seems most rational. And I humbly conceive these Governours and Ordainers were Men of great Prudence and Moderation, and probably had that Gift of the Holy Ghost, The discerning of Spirits and judging of Men : (a Gift mentioned in Scripture among others) that none might be admitted into the Priesthood but Men of meek and peaceable spirits. But now I would ask Petavius, When these Governing Ordaining Bishops were set over the rest of the Presbyter-Bishops ? When Titus was first settled with this Authority in Crete, and when Timothy was thus placed at Ephesus, where we find before were several Presbyter-Bishops, what became of them ? Were they unbishop'd, and made simple Presbyters ? They must no more Ordain nor Govern, but be subject to Timothy and Titus. I am sure it was thought no small punishment in future Ages, when Bishops were thus by Decrees of Councils abased, and cast down into the Presbyter Form, and it was for some notorious Crimes. I pray, What Crime were all these Presbyter-Bishops guilty of, to be thus handled, and tumbled down into another Form ? Truly Petavius deals hardly with them, unless he can shew us their Crime. Or will he instead of accusing them, excuse himself, and say they were not unbishop't nor abased, but only restrained from exercising that Power their Order was capable of, had they been commissioned thereto. Truly I must commend Petavius if he will thus ingenuously confess the Truth ; for I shall by and by fully declare, that 'tis the diversity of Commission, and not of Order, that enables Men to act diversly ; and that a Bishop without Commission, can do no more than a Presbyter without Commission ; and therefore I farther beg of Petavius, that till he can prove the contrary, he would confess them also to be all of one single Order, called only by divers names, Priest or Bishop, and one chosen out of the number, not the rest abased, but he exalted with Authority to Govern. This is the rational and common practice of all Societies, Corporations, Colledges, Monasteries, Conclave of Cardinals, what not ? There is no new Order supposed in any of these, but only a new Election, and a new Authority given, according to the Fundamental Constitution of each Society. The Pope himself with his triple Crown, and triple Dominion over all Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops, pretends to have no new Order of Papship, but only the new Authority conferred by his Election : Why then may not Presbyters chosen to preside over the rest, without any new Order, do the like. And for this very reason I conceive Justin Martyr uses the Name of President always for Bishop; and St. Cyprian also, a Bishop himself, and most glorious Martyr, he calls himself, and other Bishops generally by the name of Presbitus, as if this were the main distinction betwixt himself and his Presbyters, that he was Presbitus only, one of them placed with Authority over them; no more. Nor doth the name of Bishop in the Original Greek, signifie any more than an Overseer of the rest. And as for the avoiding of Heresies and Factions, they thought it meet to settle some Bishop of great soundness in Faith, and godliness of Life, with Authority to restrain and chastise disorderly Pastors. Just so, when whole Nations were converted, and not only the Pastors, but the Bishops also (who had oversight of the Pastors) increased in number, than for the same reason it was thought fit there should be an Overseer of the Bishops, and he called an Archbishop; when the Archbishops were multiplied, then another set over them, and he called a Patriarch; and at last one over the Patriarchs, and he call'd Papa, a Pope, Catecheten, though Papa before was a name attributed to other Bishops. Now as Pope, Patriarch, Archbishop, Bishop, are all one and the same Order (Papists themselves grant this); so Bishop, Elder, Presbyter, Priest, all one and the same, only one of these set over the rest, and he now particularly call'd Episcopus, that is, Bishop, Catecheten, because he oversees the Overseer: But this last Constitution only is Apostolical, the other of Archbishop, Patriarch, Pope, are merely humane, not at all mentioned in Scripture.

But now another Objection arises: Petavius grants that all the Elders which the Apostles Ordained were Bishops, and toward the end of the Apostles days, they set some eminent among them over the rest, to govern and ordain Elders in every City, as Timothy and Titus, and these Elders in every City were Bishops; and thus the Apostles left the Church with Bishops only and Deacons. And this is evident by what I brought before out of Clement, who lived after the Apostles days, and mentions only Bishops and Deacons left by the Apostles. This being so, I desire to know who after the Apostles days, began this new kind of Ordination of Presbyters, or Elders, or Bishops? The Apostles ordained none such; Who then? And by what Authority was this new Order set up? the Scripture mentions it not; When and by whom came it in? A very bold undertaking, without Scripture or Apostolical Practice.

I will not boast my conceit as Petavius doth his; only I wish the Reader to consider which is most practical, most rational, or rather most scriptural, thereon I frame this whole Fabrick, as the Rock and only sure Foundation; humane brain is too weak to erect and to support the Fabrick of the Church of God, which the Romanists have made a very Babel with their humane Inventions, and multiplied Characters and Orders; some of them would have Nine several Holy Orders in God's Church Militant here on Earth, because there are Nine several Orders of Cœlestial Spirits in the Church-Triumphant in Heaven. This is a Castle of their own building in the Air, rare Foundation for God's Church! Others will have Seven several Orders and Characters, as Seven Gifts of the Holy Ghost: Hath the Holy Ghost then but seven several Gifts to confer on Men? St. Paul, 1 Cor. 12. counts unto us Nine; not as if these were all, but only for example sake; to shew us that many and divers Gifts are conferred on us by one and the same Spirit; and in the conclusion of the same Chapter he mentions eight. These things were uttered accidentally, according to the occasion, not as limiting the Gifts of the Holy Ghost to any set Number. But if you will farther look into their application of these Gifts of the Holy Ghost, and see to what kind of several Orders they appropriate them, it would make a Man amazed to see sober learned Men, even the great Wit and Scholar Aquinas, discourse in such wild manner; as did you but stand behind a Curtain to hear and not see them, you doubtless would conclude you heard some old Woman in the Nurfery, telling her Dreams to Children, rather than Divine Doctors in School. I'll name but one or two of their Orders: The Porter of the Church-door is one, and he (forsooth) hath a Sacred Character imprinted on his Soul, and his gift is the discerning of Spirits, that he may judge who are fit to enter into God's Church, who to be shut out. Another of their Orders is that of Acolothi, who are now (anciently they were quite another thing) certain Boys carrying Torches, and attending on the Bishop saying Mass; these have their Character also, and their Gift of the Holy Ghost, is the interpretation of Tongues, signified (no doubt on't) by the Light in their Hands, but understand no more of Tongues than the Stick of their Torch. I will not weary you with more of their Absurdities.

Our Episcopal Divines rejecting these chimerical Fancies of Orders and Characters, suppose it to be a certain Faculty and Power, conferred by the laying on of Hands, for the exercise of Ministerial Duties; and according to this purpose the Superiour Order contains the Inferior, as the greater Power contains in it the less: Thus Episcopacy being the Superiour Order, contains in it Priesthood and Deaconship, these three are there supposed distinct Orders. They may suppose this if they please, and I may suppose the contrary: But I would gladly know on what Scripture they ground this Discourse, that's the thing I still require; and there we find no larger Faculty or Power given to Bishops, but rather to Priest^{not Bishops}ers, as I have shewed, the Apostles who had the greatest Power being titled Presbyters, not Bishops. And when our Bishops do Ordain Presbyters, do not they use the very same form of words which our Saviour used when he Ordained the Apostles? Accipe igitur Spiritus Sanctus: quia ego remitto tibi omnia, &c. Do they not then by the same words confer the same power? (for I hope they use no Equivocation, nor mental Reservation.) If the Power be the same, the Order is the same by their own Rule. Again, let us examine their own Practice: Do they not require a Man should be ordained first Deacon, before he be ordained Priest, and Priest before Bishop? What needs this, if the Superior contains the Inferiour. But in Scripture we find it otherwise, Timothy who long officiated under St. Paul as a Presbyter, when he was left at Ephesus; and so when Titus was left at Crete, both to be Bishops, we find no new Ordination: Were this requisite, sure the Scripture would have given us at least some hint of it; but nor one title there. But if the Scripture be defective in expressions, you will supply it by the Expressions and Practice of the Church, in first succeeding Ages.

Before you go on and take much pains to shew me this, give me leave to tell you, that I shall not easily recede from Scripture in Fundamentals, either of Faith or Church-discipline, in things indifferent of themselves, or in more weighty matters very doubtfully express'd in Scripture, I shall always most readily submit to the interpretation of the Primitive and Universal Church, I require both Primitive and Universal; for I shewed before, that in matters of Faith there were some Errors very Primitive, yet not continued by the Universal Church, but rejected in succeeding Ages. And at the time of the Evangelical Reformation by Lucifer, Melancthon, Calvin, &c. I can shew some Errors generally received in most, if not in all the Churches of Christendom, but neither approved nor known by the Primitive Church: Wherefore I require what you produce, should be both Primitive and Universal, and this to interpret some place of Scripture doubtful in it self, not plain. Now as to the business in hand, I can't yield that the Scripture is very doubtful in it, or scarce doubtful at all; for though in Scripture 'tis not in terminis, said, Presbytery and Episcopacy are both one and the same Order, yet the circumstantial Expressions are (as I have shewed) so strong and many, that they are equivalent to a clear expression in terminis. Secondly, This not a matter of any indifferency, but of vast and dangerous consequence, if mistaken, that a Church without such Bishops as you require, can't be truly called a Church, and so we shall exclude many Godly Reformed Churches. For if Bishops be of such a superior and distinct Order as you pretend, if the Power of Ordination be inherent in them only, then where no Bishop, no true Priests obtained, where no Priests, no Sacraments, where no Sacraments no Church. Wherefore it humbly beseech you be not too positive in this point, lest thereby you do not only condemn all the Reformed Churches, but the Scripture and St. Paul also; who tells us, that the Scripture is sufficient to make us wise to Salvation, both in matters of Faith and Works also, to instruct and thoroughly furnish us to every good work: And will any deny this of Ordination, to be both a good and necessary work, seeing that the powerful Preaching the Word, and Administration of the Sacraments depend upon it. Wherefore I dare not by any means suspect the Scripture defective in this weighty affair. Yet to shew you our willingness to hear all things; let us hear what you can tell us from Antiquity.

The first you bring is Epiphanius, three hundred years after the Apostles, from whom the main Objections drawn against the Identity of Order, and shew as a Cannon-ball against us, beyond all possible resistance, but you will find it to be a meer Tennis-ball. Epiphanius making a Catalogue of Hereticks, puts in Arian for one, who was an Arian, and moreover held that Bishops and Priests were all of one Order, and of equal Dignity and Authority, and that a Presbyter had power to Ordain, confirm, and in these, to act any thing equal with a Bishop. That he was an Heretick is apparent, being an Arian; may, I shall not scruple to yield unto you that he was an Heretick in this assertion, concerning Episcopacy and Presbytery (as we now understand them); I say, the Assertion contains Heresie in one part, but not in every part, viz. That the Bishop and other Presbyters are of equal Authority and Power to act: This may, in some sense, be called Heresie, for it is against Apostolical Constitution declared in Scripture, therefore an Heresie; and if you can shew me from Scripture, as much against Identity of Order, I shall brand him for an Heretick in that also; but being sure there is no such thing in Scripture, there can be no Heresie in affirming the Identity. I fully agree with Tertullian, we can make no judgment, De rebus fidei, nisi ex literis fidei, of matters of Faith; but from the Writings of Faith, that is, the Scripture, and therefore I shall never be pulled from this Pillar of Truth. The Scripture is our complete Rule of Faith, no Opinion is heretical and damnable, which is not against that. Now, Good Reader, I pray take notice that Epiphanius was a very godly Bishop in the main, but yet a very cholerick Man, as appears in that his fierce Contest with Jabon Bishop of Constantinople, and his bitter expressions therein, which I do not mention in disparagement of this holy Man, but only to give the Reader a caution to remember, that passionate Men do sometimes err more severely than there is cause, Epiphanius being a Bishop, and finding finding the Authority and Dignity of Bishops much disparaged by John, being an Arian Heretic, falls upon him sharply for this his Opinion; John, wherein he was in part, much to be condemned, as I freely confess before, but not in the very point now in question, nor doth Epiphanius himself condemn him in this particular as an Heretic, but only in the gross, to which I freely give my Vote. But you will tell me, that a Man of a far milder temper, St. Austin, doth also enrol John among Heretics. I know it well, but I desire you to know that St. Austin doth not lay this to his charge as an Heretic, for he hath only thus: Arian also was an Heretic, for he fell into Arian Heresie, and he added some Opinions of his own. Then St. Austin recounts several of his Opinions, whereof this was one, That he affirmed there was no difference between a Bishop and Presbyter; where I pray you observe, St. Austin gives us the reason why he ranks him with Heretics, (viz.) Because he fell into the Arian Heresie: then follows, and he added some Opinions of his own. St. Austin calls these Opinions not Heresies, for he doth not say he added more Heresies of his own. Secondly, I pray you observe, St. Austin makes no mention of his affirming the Identity of Order, but only this, That there was no difference at all between Bishop and Presbyter; wherein I will condemn John as well as you. But as for the Identity of Order, 'tis well known that St. Austin is moved by Malact, a Papist Writer, and others, to incline to this Opinion; but for my part, I think the words quoted from St. Austin, do not express any Opinion, one way or other to this purpose; but are only a Complement to St. Hieron, who was but a Presbyter; yet in humility St. Austin being a Bishop, acknowledges him to be his Superior in many things. But I desire you to take notice of another very remarkable and most worthy passage of St. Austin; who tells us plainly that we are not to read him, or any other Author, ever so holy, or so wise, for a model, with any obligation to submit to his or their Opinions, unless they prove their Opinions by Scripture, or convincing Reasons. So then, had John been declared both by Epiphanius and St. Austin also, to have been a Heretic in this very particular of Identity of Order, yet they being neither Scripture, nor any Reason at all, but merely a bare Narrative of John and his Opinions, not so much as calling his Opinion in this particular Heresie, much less offering proofs for it; by St. Austin's Rule are may, with great civility to them, and great confidence in the truth, shall affirm the Identity of Order.

But how will I answer that Objection taken out of St. Hieron, who say you, was a great Lover of Bishops with Priests, as any (and this often) whatever comes from him, you may be sure is extracted from him by the powerfulness of undeniable Truth; yet he confesses that Bishops have the Authority of Ordination more than Presbyters: a man may smile to see this used as an Argument for the prebeminency of Bishops, which is directly against it: For St. Hieron having discours'd of the Quality and Identity of Presbyters and Bishops, and having brought many Arguments from Scripture, to prove that Bishop and Presbyter was only two Names for one and the same Office; for a further confirmation hereof asks this Question, I pray what doth a Bishop do more then a Presbyter, except Ordination? plainly intimating thereby, that this could make no such distinction of Eminency in them above Presbyters: I beseech you consider, Do not Presbyters perform Offices of a higher nature than Ordination? Presbyters are Ordained Embassadors for Christ, to Preach his Holy Gospel for the Salvation of Souls; they are under Christ, Mediators between God and the People, to make Intercession for them; they administer the Sacrament of Baptism, wherein the Children of Wrath are Regenerated and made the Children of God, and Heirs of Eternal Life; yea, they administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper also, the most transcendent Act of Religion and Christian Dignity, whereby we are made partakers of the Body and Blood of Christ: And what doth a Bishop more then these, except Ordination? Which being no Sacrament, sure is inferiour in Dignity to the other mentioned Acts, and therefore cannot elevate them to a higher degree. Judge now, I beseech you whether this question makes pro or con: Are not such questions always tending to disparagement? When any Man is boasting his Power and Authority, should I come and ask, What can you do more then others, unless it be in this or that poor business not worth speaking of? Would he not take this as an affront? Wherefore it cannot enter into my head, that St. Hieron intended by this Question to express any Superior Order above the Priesthood, but plainly the contrary, viz. That Bishops having no other Power distinct from Priests but Ordination, this could be no Argument for a distinct and superiour Order. And now I desire my Reader, if he understand Latin, to view the Epistle of St. Hieron to Evagrius, and doubtless he will wonder to see Men have the confidence to quote any thing out of it, for the distinction between Episcopacy and Presbytery, for the whole Epistle is to shew the Identity of them. Before I chanced to read the Epistle, I was of the erroneous Opinion, that Bishops were a distinct Order, but so convinc'd by this Epistle, as I was forced to submit to a charge: And I farther desire my Reader to observe the various fate of St. Hieron and Arius: Arius is reviled as an Heretick, for affirming this Identity of Order; Hieron passes for a Saint, and a great Doctor of the Church, though he affirms the very same as fully as Arius, or any Man can do; and therefore it may be my fate to be reviled as Arius was: but our Saviour bids us rejoyce and be exceeding glad when we are reviled for his Names sake, (or for his Words sake, sure all is one) for great is our Reward; and so I proceed.

But there lies yet a greater Objection made by our good Bishop Hil; he tells how that Calubus a Presbyter of Alexandria, took upon him to ordain others; and that afterwards, in a Council of a hundred Bishops in Egypt, their Ordination was declared null, because ordained by a Presbyter: From this and some other such Instances, the Bishop would prove that the Order of Presbyters is not capable to Ordain, therefore Bishops are a distinct Order. I am sorry to good a Man had no better a proof for his intended purpose. It seems he quite forgot how that the famous Council of Nice, consisting of above three hundred, made a Canon, wherein they declare, that if any Bishop should Ordain any of the Clergy belonging to another Bishops Diocels without consent and leave had of that Bishop to whose Diocels they did belong, their Ordination should be null. You see then the irregular Ordination of a Bishop is as null, as the irregular Ordination of a Presbyter; therefore the irregular Bishop, and the irregular Presbyter are of the same Order, of the same Authority, neither able to Ordain. Is it not most evident by this, that 'tis not their Order but Commission that makes them capable to Ordain; sure an irregular Bishop if of the same Order with the regular, as the Line of his Diocels like a Conjurers Circle, within it he is a Bishop, without it he is none. No, but within it he hath Commission given him to Ordain, without it no Commission; no nor to act in his own Diocels beyond his Commission, which is to ordain only the Clergy of his own Diocels, and within his own Diocels. Can any thing be plainer? Calubus then being but a Presbyter, and under the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of Alexandria; his taking upon him to ordain Presbyters, was highly irregular and infamous, and therefore most justly declared null. I desire the Papistical School Divines, with their manifold indelible Characters to observe here, how easily the Councils dash out the indelible Character of Presbyter, imprinted on the Souls of these Men irregularly ordained; they made a clear rasure, not one tittle of it left. And could they so easily cancel the Gift of the Holy Ghost? I leave my Schoolmen to find out how this reare feat was done. And I proceed to add a Canon from a Council at Antioch concerning Chorepiscops, much to our purpose.

When the Apostles had settled Bishops in every City, with Authority of ordaining and governing the several Churches or Congregations within the Circuits of those Cities: some were very large, and therefore in process of Time, when more were converted to the Faith, and the Congregations increased more in number, and at greater distance than the Bishop himself could well have the oversight of; the Bishop chose some principal Men for his assistance; and dividing his great Circuit

Circuit into several Circuits, placed those Men as Overseers under him, and these were called Chorepiscopi; that is, Country Bishops, and were much after the manner of our Rural Deans. These Chorepiscopi or Country Bishops, being thus settled in Authority to govern the Parishes in their Circuits, took upon them to ordain more Priests when occasion required; which the chief Bishops took very ill at their hands, as a great lessening to their Supreme Authority. And to prevent it for the future, a Canon was made in the Council of Antioch, about the year 340, to forbid these Country Bishops to ordain any Priests. Now I pray you observe, these Chorepiscopi were either really ordained in the Order of the Chief Bishop, or not; if they were as full Bishops as he, (as really they were) Why might they not Ordain Priests as well as he? The chief Bishop answers, Because he gave them no Commission. Whereby you see that the Power of Ordaining Priests was annexed no more to Bishops than to Priests, unless the Bishops received a new Commission to Ordain, as well as a new Ordination. If it be answered, That these Chorepiscopi were meer Priests sent forth to have inspection only over their Priests: Then I pray observe, that these Chorepiscopi being meer Priests, took upon them to Ordain other Priests; which certainly had been madness for them to do, had they then such a belief of Bishops as is now required. This might as well have undertaken to create Seats in the Heavens. For Bishops only have received a Divine Power from Christ and his Apostles to Ordain Priests, he that hath not this Divine Power of Ordination, can no more ordain a Priest, than a Man without the Divine Power of Creation can create a Sparrow; both are impossible in Nature. From whence it must follow, that these Country Bishops were directly mad, in undertaking to ordain Priests, having received no such Divine Power from Christ, his Apostles, or their Successors. But if we take these Country Bishops for sober godly persons in their right Wits (as doubtless they were, being selected for that Office) they must needs believe that being Priests alone, they had Power to ordain other Priests, and also believed, that the Bishops having made them Overseers and Governours in their little Circuits, they had also received thereby Commission to ordain, as well as to govern, and were as little Bishops under an Archbishop, for such really they were; so that can't in charity censure them so much as of contumacy in taking upon them more than (they ought at least) they had Commission to act. I doubt not but the chief Bishop would be wary enough not to employ any contumacious persons. I conclude then, first, that it was only a meer mistake, an easy and pardonable mistake of their Commission. Secondly, That in those times it was not thought an impossible thing for bare Priests, no Bishops, to ordain other Priests, for that certainly they would never have undertaken it. And I confess my self of their Opinion; and can't but so continue till I see more reason to the contrary.

And I hope my Reader will see what weak proofs are brought for this distinction and superiority of Order; no Scripture, no Primitive General Council, no general consent of Primitive Doctors and Fathers, as not one Primitive Father of Note speaking particularly and home to our purpose. Only a touch of Epiphanius and St. Austin upon Arian the Arian Heretick; but not declared, nor not by them, an Heretick in this particular of Episcopacy, so that I my self declare more particularly against him then these Fathers do, accusing him of Heresie in part of his Affirmation concerning Bishops, though not in every part.

I shall conclude this business by giving my poor Judgment drawn from the preceding Arguments. I find in Scripture that the Priesthood is a holy Order, into which no man is to thrust himself unless he be called; I do not find that Deaconship hath an inferior part in it, or Episcopacy above it, but that it is complete and entire in it self, and that it may involve many Administrations in one and the same Order, and sometimes many in one and the same person. St. John was an Apostle, an Evangelist, a Prophet, a Pastor, a Teacher, an Ordained, (which we call Bishop) all these Gifts he had by one and the same Spirit, and in one and the same Priesthood Christ himself was of this Order, a Priest for ever after the order of Melchisedech; that is, both King and Priest, these were his Offices; he is called also the Bishop of our Sinners. Was this in Christ a distinct and Superiour Office or Order to his Priesthood, who will presume to affirm this? And Christ told his Apostles, as my Father sent me, so send I you; Christ therefore made them also Kings and Priests, as St. John tells us, Rev. 1. Our Saviour's Kingdom was not of this World, no more was that of the Apostles; Our Saviour's Office of Priest and Bishop was one and the same, so was that of the Apostles; and they Ordained and sent others, as Christ Ordained and sent them; there was no distinction or diversity of Order in Christ and his Apostles, no more was there in those, who were Ordained and sent by the Apostles, though there might be diversity of Gifts or Administration; all were not Evangelists nor Prophets, some had the gift of Tongues, some of Prophecy, some of Miracles, some of discerning Spirits; and some such Gift I conceive they might have whom the Apostles constituted superintendent Overseers, Bishops over the rest, endued especially with the gift of discerning and judging of men, and therefore fit to be entrusted with the Ordaining of others, for which there needed no new Order, but the enlargement only of their Commission to Ordain, to oversee and govern those that were Ordained. And these, as I said before, being used in this eminent manner over the rest, were called by that Name in Greek which signifies as much, and which we in English call Bishops; and by degrees this Name was wholly appropriate to them.

 In this Order the Apostles left the Church at their Death, and in this Order their Successors continued it (as in duty sure they ought) from time to time near one thousand five hundred years, without any interruption. Wherefore for any to alter this way of Government, or to take upon them to Ordain, not being chosen this way to it, they would be guilty of great rashness and high presumption; and I thank God, I am as zealous for the preserving this Primitive way as any Man; Yet I cannot by any means consent to them, who would have Episcopacy to be a distinct Order, for the Reasons before given; nor can I think the Ordination of a Priest made by Priest invalid, for though it ought not to be done, (but only if necessary) yet being done it is valid, and certainly may without any crime be done by any Priest, by shipwreck or any such chance cast into a Country where there were none Commissioned to Ordain; in such a case he might and ought to Ordain other six Persons for the Service of God, and Preaching of the Gospel. For who can doubt but that the Substance is to be preserved before Ceremony; and as St. Paul approved of the Preaching of Christ out of Envy rather than no Preaching; so doubts to Or-dain out of Order is better than no Ordination, and the Church of Christ be deprived of Preaching, Praying, and Administering the Sacraments, and all other pastoral Duties; so great necessity may well excuse any irregularity: Yet in this Order can possibly be observed, it ought to be, for God is the God of Order. Wherefore he that va-lently transgresses against Order, transgresses against God, and shall receive a just Damnation, for if to resist the Ordinances of man ly in humane and temporal things be Damnation, much more shall he resist an Apostolick Ordinance in things Spiritual and Divine. And the way of the Apostles; and they who were Ordained and sent forth as Christ Ordained and sent them; there was no distinction or variety of Order in Christ and his Apostles, no more was there in those who were Ordained and sent by the Apostles, though there might be diversity of Gifts or Administration; all were not Bishops, all not Presbyters, some had the gift of Tongues, some of Prophecy, some of Miracles, some of discerning Spirits; and some both Gifts. I consider they might have upon the Apostles conferred superintendency, and they might have upon the Apostles conferred especially with the gift of speaking and judging of men, and then and then might have been the Ordaining of others, for which there was no new Order, but the continuation only of the Commission of the Apostles, to oversee and Concerning Deacons.

Having thus stated and united the two pretended distinct Orders of Bishops and Presbyters, I now proceed to the third pretended Spiritual Order, that of Deacons. Whether this of Deacons be properly to be called an Order or an Office I shall not dispute, but certainly no Spiritual Order, for their Office was to serve Tables, as the Scripture phrase is, which in plain English is nothing else but Officers of the poor to distribute justly and discreetly the Alms of the Faithful, which the Apostles would not trouble themselves withal; lest it should hinder them in the Ministration of the Word and Prayer, but as most matters of this World in process of time defect much from the Original Constitution, so it fell out in this business; for the Bishops who pretended to be Successors to the Apostles, by little and little took to themselves the Dispensation of Alms, first by way of inspection over the Deacons, but at length the total management, and the Deacons, who were once Law-Officers, by degrees crept into the Church administration, and became a reputed Spiritual Order; and a necessary degree unit step to the Priesthood, of which I can find nothing in Scripture and the Original Institution, not a word relating to any thing but the ordering of Alms for the Poor. And the first I find of their officiating in Spiritual matters is in Justin Martyr, who lived in the second Century; he relates, that when the Bishop had consecrated the Bread and Wine for the Lords Supper, the Deacons took it from him and delivered it to the Lay Communicants sitting orderly and canonically to the Faithful that were absent; and such I guess, from coming by sickness, or some other good excusing cause. In the beginning when the Congregations of the Faithful were small, the Bishop himself delivered the Communion to them; but at length increasing to great numbers, it would have been too much of trouble for the Bishop to have delivered it to the whole Congregation; so the Deacons were made use of as his persons for this matter; for in those days there was always a Communion in the Assemblies on the Lords Day, and the Lay that Day brought their Alms and Presents with them, which were delivered unto the Deacons to dispose of to the Poor by the Bishops direction, and therefore the Deacons coming from their hands to their charitable Benevolence, were thought the proper to receive them to their hands hands the consecrated Myſteries being part of their Offerings. But 'tis evident this was not yet come to be the general practice of all Churches, but only in Greece where Juſtin Martyr lived; for Tertullian who lived in Africk ſome years after Juſtin, declares that the Cuſtom there was, to receive the bleſſed Sacrament from the hands of the Biſhop only, whom he calls the Preſident, that is, whoſoever was chief in the Aſſembly whether Biſhops or Preſbyters: but yet I confeſs that this Cuſtom of the Deacons delivering the bleſſed Sacrament, or at leaſt one part of it, viz. the Chalice, by degrees became the Cuſtom in moſt Churches in after Ages; and ſo paſſing from one thing to another, in time they came to Adminiſter the Sacrament of Baptiſm, and at laſt to the Miniſtration of the Word, the buſineſs which the Apoſtles peculiarly reſerved to themſelves, and which the Biſhops alſo for a long time reſerved ſo entirely to themſelves, as it was thought a great inſolency for any, even for the Preſbyters, to take upon them to Preach in preſence of the Biſhop Valerius Biſhop of Hippo (as Poſſidius relates) was ſharply rebuked by his fellow Biſhops for ſuffering St. Auſtin, then but a Preſbyter, to preach before him. I know ſometimes it was ſuffered alſo in other Churches, but very rarely, where the Biſhop himſelf was of weak Abilities for the work, and had ſome Preſbyters under him very Eminent. And ſo it was with Biſhop Valerius and St. Auſtin, a perſon of great Note in thoſe days. And thus you ſee in proceſs of time how ſtrange things alter from their Original Inſtitution; the Biſhops omit Preaching, and become Servants of Tables, and the Deacons ſtom ſerving of Tables ſtep up into the Pulpit and became Preachers. But Petavius takes upon him to prove Deaconſhip a Spiritual Order, and brings us a more early Author for it than Juſtin, that Noble Martyr mentioned before, Ignatius, who in his Epiſtle ad Trall. calls Deacons (as Petavius conceives) Miniſters of the Myſteries of Chriſt. Here I find that, which I often lament Learned men to go on in a track one after another, and ſome through Inadvertency, ſome through Partiality take many paſſages of ancient Authors quite different from their meanings, as here, all following the firſt erroneous Interpreter of Ignatius. Whoever firſt tranſlated this Epiſtle of Ignatius, ſure this fancy of Deacons ran much in his head, otherwiſe he could never have found them here, for 'tis evident the word Diaconus in this place relates to the Preſbytery newly before mentioned, telling the people they ought to be obedient to the Preſbyters as to the Apoſtles of Chriſt; (then follows) You muſt therefore pleaſe them in all things, being Miniſters of the Myſteries of Chriſt. Mark I beſeech you, You muſt therefore; it not Therefore a particle relating to what went before, viz. the Preſbyters, otherwiſe the Speech is very abſurd. Should I ſay, Preſbyters are as the Apoſtles of Chriſt, there fore you must in all things please the Deacons, were it sense? no; but just Deum in celo, ergo homines in angustia; but to say the Presbyters are as the Apostles, therefore you must please them in all things, being the Ministers of the Mysteries of Christ, as the Apostles were; this is very good coherent sense: and so runs the words of Ignatius; but the weak Interpreter mistaking the word Diaconus, ran into this error, and many Learned Men without any consideration have run after him. I grant the word Diaconus is often set for Deacons specifically distinguished from Presbyters; but 'tis very often set for all Ministers in general, Apostles, Bishops, Presbyters, as you find frequently in Scripture. St. Paul in one Epistle, viz. the 2d. Cor. twice styles himself and other Apostles Diaconus. And I do the more wonder at the Interpreters mistake in this place, because by the following words Ignatius here excludes the special Deacons, saying, Not the Ministers of Meats and Drinks: Now we know the special Deacons were Ministers of Meats and Drinks to the Poor, it was their proper work, for this very end they were chosen, and for no other, as appears evidently in the Acts; and therefore Ignatius saying, Not the Ministers of Meats and Drinks, directly excludes such Deacons, and the word Diaconus must necessarily be taken in the larger sense, and relate to the Presbyters before mentioned; therefore please them in all things being the Ministers of the Mysteries of Christ, not of Meats, and Drinks for the Poor. Whoever understands the Greek, and will see, must needs see the truth of what I affirm. But Petavius intoxicated with this Spiritual Order of Deaconship, turns all this round quite another way, according to the working of his fancy. And so he doth some places of Scripture as little to his purpose as this. He tells us out of the Acts, that Philip and Stephen, both Deacons, were Preachers of the Word, that is a Spiritual Work, therefore belongs to a Spiritual Order. I would gladly know who informed Petavius, that Philip who Preach'd to the Eunuch, and afterwards went about Preaching to others, was Philip the Deacon, and not rather Philip the Apostle, as seems to me far more probable; for Philip the Deacon was by his Office to reside at Jerusalem and take care of the Poor, such as the Acts of the Apostles were sent, to relieve the Saints at Jerusalem. But you further urge, Surely Stephen was a Deacon; and let Philip also, if you please, it signifies little to the purpose. Sure, I can shew out of Scripture Preachers that were in no Spiritual Order, neither Presbyters, nor Deacons neither, as Aquila, and Priscilla his Wife too, and Apollō likewise, to whom they both Preach'd and instructed him more fully; sure they did not ordain Apollō a Deacon, nor can I believe any of the Apostles ordain'd him Deacon, and sent him forth to Preach before he was well Catechized in the Word; he was not so much as Baptized in Christ;

him knew only the Baptism of John: if not Baptized, surely not ordained: Deacon; yet he prevailed and mightily convinced the Jews. It is in reason strange, though in practice common, to see how Men wedded to an Opinion, think whatever they read speaks to that, so Fathers, Doctors, all think as they think. In the Primitive time all both Men and Women did Preach the Gospel, taken in a large sense; as St. Paul calls Maria a Preacher of Righteousness, that is, they endeavoured to instruct all they conversed with, in the Faith of Christ and Godliness, for which many both Men and Women suffered Martyrdom. Wherefore though Philip the Deacon and Stephen Preach the Gospel, it signifies nothing to the Spirituality of the Deaconship, seeing that thousands of Lay-men and Women also did the like. And so the Apostles laying their hands on those chosen to be Deacons, signifies as little to this purpose. Do not we find that Paul laid his hands on this converted Disciple at Ephesus, and they received the Holy Ghost and Prophesied, yet none of them ordained either Presbyter or Deacon. And sometimes the Apostles laid their hands on those that were already ordained, both Presbyters and Apostles also, as on Barnabas and Paul, when they were sent forth to Preach. This laying of hands was a Ceremony used on several Occasions, I need not mention more, they are obvious to any that reads the Scriptures. It is evident then from Scripture, that first the Institution of Deacons was a meer Lay-Office, I will not say a profane Office (as some too grossly and irreverently have termed it) but a pious and honourable Office in the Church of God, to serve Tables, to take care of God's Poor; but (as I have shewed) in process of time it became quite another thing, and so different from the Original Institution, as it made Chrysostrum, and others other great and good Men, doubt whether the Apostles did not constitute two sorts of Deacons, some for this Lay-Office, some for Spiritual-Offices: had Chrysostrum consulted only Scripture, he would never have dreamed of two sorts of Deacons, there being no mention at all but of one; but he seeing the practice of the Church (which he was unwilling to condemn) so different from that one Apostolical Institution of Deacons, this so confounded the good Man that he knew not well what to make of it, and willing to pierce Scripture and the present practice together, to put a new patch upon an old Garment, made the rent the wider, rending the Deaconship in two pieces, which of old was but one, only to serve Tables; which Office he thus used well, purchased to himself a good degree, a good esteem, and so it might be a recommendation to the degree of Priesthood, who necessary step to it. And so we find that Holy Deacon, and most renowned Martyr St. Lawrence, was made a Priest, but continued afterwards in that same Office of Deacon unto Death, which he suffered in a most such manner laid on a Gridiron next Coals, rather then he would give up the Treasury of the Church, and Alms of the Poor, to the covetous cruel Tyrant. This holy Deacon Petrus brings to prove, that Deacons by virtue of that Order only, did minister in holy things, telling us, that St. Ambrose mentions how he did distribute in the Lord's Supper, the Blood of Christ to the Communicants under Bishop Episcopus. Whereas St. Ambrose tells us how he consecrated the Blood of Christ, which plainly shews how untruly Petrus deals with us, and that St. Lawrence was a Priest, not a bare Deacon, for neither Petrus nor ever any allowed Deacons the Consecration of these Sacred Mysteries. Wherefore seeing the Scripture allows Deacons, as Deacons, not more then serving of Tables for the Poor, wherever else Ministrations is allowed, that, is by Humane Authority, not Divine, and their Office or Order, which you please to call it, being about temporal things must be temporal and spiritual. And so I leave them to their proper Office of serving Tables, not finding in Scripture any thing more belonging to them.

Concerning Confirmation.

Confirmation of some such things is so necessary, that for want of due execution thereof, persons extremely unfit are admitted to the holy Table of our Lord's Supper. I fear a quarter of the Communicants of this Nation, do not sufficiently understand the true meaning of these holy Mysteries, the due preparation for them, the benefits, the damages, in worthily or unworthily receiving them. This I affirm upon experience, having by way of Discourse, questioned many both of low and high degree, where one would little expect such Ignorance. And by reason of this gross Ignorance in due preparing, and conscientiously receiving the blessed cordial and medicine of the Soul (of Power in itself to cure all our Diseases if rightly applied) is turned into our destruction, and damnation of the Soul. For this Holy Sacrament rightly apprehended, would strike a terror into the Soul, and a dread on sinners' Men, receiving it, without any regard into their sinful Souls, the beams of Grace which this Son of Righteousness brings with it, harden their dirty heart, and make them afterwards unfeeling of any horrid Abomination whatsoever. And all this is occasioned by the want of some fit Person of Authority, to examine Youth of all degrees, ever so high, or ever so low, before they are admitted to the Lord's Table. But there being many poor ignorant Curates, many unconscientious careless Ministers, many overawed by the superior Quality of their Parishioners, some cannot, some will not, some dare not search into the requisite Abilities of Persons to be admitted. All which was prevented in the Primitive times of Christianity, when able and holy Bishops were elected, and therefore revered and obeyed in all Spiritual Matters, by the greatest as well as by the least. These diligently and publicly before the Congregation at set-times in the year, chiefly at Easter, examined those who had been converted to the Faith from infidelity that year, and those who baptized in the Faith, desired admittance to the Lord's Table; and upon approbation and confirmation of the Bishop, fit persons only were publicly Baptized by him, and at the Church-door as soon as Churches were built, where the Baptistry was placed, and then brought into the Church, and admitted to the Lord's Table: And no inferior Minister did either Baptize, or administer the Holy Communion, unless it were by the Bishop's order on urgent occasions. These things are very well known to the Learned, who are conversant in Ignatius his Epistle, Iustin Martyr, Tertullian, Cyprian, and other succeeding Writers. And in short, nothing was done of any moment; as is plain in Ignatius, but by the Bishop's directions. But at length the number of Christians growing great, and multitudes of Children daily born, and an opinion growing up also, that it was absolutely necessary for the salvation of Children not only to be baptized, but also to receive the Holy Communion before Death; it was impossible for the Bishop to be at hand to perform all, to give particular order for all: Necessity forced every Priest in his Cure, to perform these Offices. Yet in process of time, the Opinion of the necessity for Children to receive the Holy Communion before Death, declining, and few or none admitted till the age of discretion, and the necessity of Baptism for Children still continuing, the Bishops suffered still all Ministers to baptize, but resumed themselves again the Power of Confirming and Licensing Youth to the Holy Communion. And Bishops only for a long time executing this Office, it grew by degrees into an opinion, that Bishops only were capable to do it, and that Confirmation was a Sacrament, and such a Sacrament as inferior Priests, supposed then also to be of an inferior Order, were not to meddle with. What Errors will Men, yea learned Men, carried along with a Crowd, slide into, not willing to stand in opposition with a multitude, especially when countenanced by the Bishop their Superior. And then succeeding learned Men having in their Infancy sucked in the Error, continue it in their riper Learned years, and endeavoured to defend it as a certain Truth; and at last it passeth for an Article of Faith, necessary to be believed. Thus have I laid out before you the true State and Progress of this business of Confirmation.

Now I pray consider first; suppose Confirmation to be a Sacrament; and to be administred by the Bishop only, and none to be admitted to the Lord's Table till Confirmed: How is it possible for a Bishop of so large a Diocess, as some of ours are (some extended three or fourscore Miles, many forty or fifty) personally to confirm half the Youth in a Diocess, if he duly examine each one, as is most fit and necessary. We see how this is performed in their Triennial Visitations; not a quarter of those who are admitted ever come to the Bishop, and yet the Crowd is great: What is then done to those that come? They are asked by the Bishop, whether they believe, and will perform those things their God-fathers and God-mothers affirmed and promised for them at their Baptism; they answer, yes, and so are confirmed: But what those things are, whether they understand and can give a good account of those things, not a word of this. Oh but the Curate, who presents those Children to the Bishop, assures him that they are fully instructed for it; this is the thing we complain of, and desire to be redressed, that it may not be left to the discretion and care of every Curate, seeing what pitiful Creatures are by them admind. And do we not see sometimes (the Curate desiring to please the fond Mother) Children confirmed so young as cannot without a miracle be of a capacity to understand those Divine Mysteries. Besides, it may often happen that a pious Child well fitted for the Holy Sacrament, and perchance being weak, earnestly desires it before his Death, yet must stay some years till next Visitation, or take a long Journey to the Bishop, for which he may want strength or means to support him. But in the Primitive times the Bishops Confirmed every year; their Diocess also was very narrow, so that access to him was very quick and easie, and the work was as easie to the Bishop, yea, and easie also to the Inferiour Curate to instruct and prepare them; for Parents and Masters did then according to their bounden duty (the great neglect whereof in these days will find sore punishment at the last day) made it their chief care to instruct their Servants and Children from their Infancy in the principles of Religion.

You see how impossible it is for a Bishop in a large Diocess and Triennial Visitation to perform this necessary work as it ought, and therefore in the second place consider, how necessary it is for the Bishop to appoint some discreet conscientious Ministers (as our Dean Rurals should be) in several Circuits to Examine and License to the Lord's Table; for I pass it as granted that Confirmation is no Sacrament, and if

if it were, why may not Priests nor Bishops perform it? certainly there is not one word in Scripture forbidding it, or any colourable pretence against it, nor can I discover the least ground of reason to forbid it; Inferiour Ministers performing other Offices Superior to it, and certainly equal to it, though it were a Sacrament, which our Church denies. There is nothing in the World can be pretended, but that in the beginning Bishops did only perform it. To this I answer, that from the very beginning there were no other Priests but Bishops, as I have shewed you, and then Bishops, did altogether Ministerial Duties, Preach, Pray, Baptize, Catechise: and in succeeding Ages, when there were several inferiour Priests not Bishops, all but confirming was ever transmitted to them; and to Deacons also Preaching, Praying, and Baptizing, nay, Baptizing tolerated in necessity to Midwives (I would gladly see any such thing in Antiquity) and shall confirming, the meanest of all these, be denied Priests? You will tell me there have been decrees in some Councils to forbid it, and will you be bound up to all the decrees of Councils, without Scripture or any reason for them? If once we leave Scripture and hearken to the Doctrines of men, ever so Holy, ever so Learned, ever so Primitive, we shall soon be wheeled into the Papists Religion, and many other Errors, which the Papists themselves now reject, as I have declared; as large before; and therefore I forbear, saying more to this purpose; but proceed to a third Consideration, what will be the best means to prepare youth for the receiving the Holy Communion in every Cure, and then present them to such as are appointed to License them.

In the first place, I humbly conceive it will be necessary to add unto the Catechism, a short and plain Paraphrase upon every sentence in the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and Ten Commandments, and particularly to explain every unusual hard word therein. For those general Questions at the end of them do not so sufficiently open the Understanding of the weaker or duller Youth, as that they know how to apply those Generals to each particular Sentence; but many Youth who can most readily say the Catechism to a little, yet understand many of their words no more than if they were Greek, and scarce are able to give you the meaning of any Sentence in their own words. And if though they have all perfectly by heart, as we say, yet have very little in their Heads and Understandings; and so a Parot may be well nigh as capable of the Lord's Supper, as some of those.

In the next place I must tell you, that I fear as much Ministers of the best parts, as those of the meanest for this necessary work of Catechizing, left both have the same effect, though they act extremely different, the one talking non-sence, the other above common sence, both of them confounding the brains of the poor Youth, who understand father of them. I have heard some Learned Ministers call the Youth together, ask a few Catechism Questions, which the Boys answering readily are commended and dismissed: And then begins this Learned man a profound Lecture, shaped according to his own large Dimensions, at which both Boys and Men also for the most part gaze as at a prodigious Monster of Learning; and perchance some of them say to themselves, that Festus said to St. Paul, The man is beside himself, much Learning hath made him mad. Sure he doth not know where he is, not in an University-School of Divinity, but in an Assembly of weak and silly Youth (who must be fed with Milk, and are not capable of strong Meat:) where it were better for him with St. Paul, to speak five words with his Understanding, than by his Voice he may teach others also, that ten thousand words in an unknown Tongue, or in such English as they understand no more than an unknown Tongue. I humbly beseech these Men to attend to the Form and Phrase of the Gospel, and mark what kind of Matter and Language the Divine Oracle used in Preaching it, even to the Learned Scribes and Pharisees, and to learn of him who was lowly in heart, and came not to seek his own glory, but the glory of him that sent him. I desire them also to read the latter end of the first Chapter of 1 Cor. and the beginning of the second, and learn from thence to speak the Wisdom of God in the weak and foolish way of Preaching, to instruct and gain the weak and foolish, yet wise unto God. Really no Man that hath not made some Experience can believe, how strangely weak and dull thousands both of Boys and Men also are in apprehending Spiritual Matters, so that a man had need to study much, how to fit their weak heads with a suitable Discourse, and hath as much need of great patience also to repeat every thing again and again; and even beat it into their heads. I have observed that Plato's manner of many short and plain Questions and Answers to effect much; and likewise familiar similitudes from things within their own Occupation and Knowledge. And now to encourage then to this toilsome work, I beseech them to consider, that the Souls of these weak simple ones, cost our Saviour as dear, as those of the Philosophers, and therefore are as dear to him, yea it seems dearer, seeing St. Paul tells us in the place before cited, that he calls more of them to Salvation: and therefore they ought to be as dear to our Saviour's Minister, and to be chiefly called and sought by them; and then they shall be sure to have their reward from this our lowly Saviour.

In the last place, I conceive it necessary to consider, what course may be taken to bring all to Catechising: for I have heard some Pious Ministers much complain, that they used their utmost endeavours, yet cannot effect it: and it can never be expected, that many of the Youth will come, unless compelled by Parents and Masters; of whom many are so careless, many so covetous, as they think every hour lost, which is not spent on their worldly Affairs: so that the Parents and Masters need compulsion as well as their Children and Servants. And considering how this necessary work of Catechising hath been neglected for many years past; it is much to be feared that the aged need it as much as the youth. But would Parents and Masters well consider the great advantages that would accrue to them, even in their worldly Concerns, they would be very zealous to come themselves, and both see and hear their youth Catechized, and bred up in Piety and Godliness: the want whereof hath bred that great undutifulness in Children, that sloth and falleness of Servants, which we sadly behold in this degenerated Age. And let me mention once again the strict account Parents and Masters must give to God for so great neglect to those committed to their Charge. Wherefore unless some suter Expedient can be found, I humbly conceive it would have some effect, if such careless Parents and Masters were not admitted themselves to the Holy Communion, who were faulty in this kind: for though many of them are not very zealous of the Holy Communion, and could easily pass it by, yet for Reputation sake they would not easily incur the being rejected; and doubtless many of them would be moved thereby, and the example of some would be followed by others, and so by degrees the number would encrease: and when Catechising by this means begins to grow in fashion, it would quickly be taken up by all. God be merciful to us, that Religion in many is chiefly for fashion sake; yet I hope by God's assisting Grace, Religion beginning though but in fashion, would end at last in true Devotion, at least in many, if not in all. However, it is good that God should publicly be glorified, the publick would speed the better for it, though the private hypocrites suffer punishment in the end. God in his mercy turn their hearts that they may escape.

Of Church Government.

MY last particular which remains yet to be handled, is that of the Authority of Bishops to govern as well as to ordain. And in the first place, who can but wonder to see men so zealous in assuming to themselves the sole power of Ordination, so much neglect, and even wholly abandon the power of the Keys, that of Excommunication, & high high and so dreadful; which though by great abuse in latter times, is made very contemptible, yet in the Original Institution and Primitive Practice, was very terrible: power to deliver men over unto Satan, that Prince of darkness, to take full possession of their Souls, and sometimes of their Bodies also, both being sentenced thereby to the everlasting Flames of Hell; and likewise a power to release penitent Souls from the chains of darkness, and slavery of the Devil, and restore them to the glorious liberty of the Sons of God; whereby they are made Heirs of the Kingdom of Heaven. If there be any thing under Heaven fit to stir up the Ambition of mortal men, yea, an Ambition in Angels themselves, sure this it. Who can forgive sins but God alone? said the Jews to our Saviour Christ swelling with Indignation against him for this, though they had seen many Divine Miracles wrought by him, yet this is so peculiar, so transcendent a Divine Act, as not to be offered at by any but the great God Jehovah himself. But blessed for ever be this great and gracious God, who by his eternal Son Christ Jesus hath given this power unto men. As his Heavenly Father sent him with this power, so sent he his Apostles with this power, saying unto them, Whosoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them, and whosoever sins ye retain, they are retained: Wherefore if there be any thing in the Office of a Bishop to be stood upon and challenged peculiar to themselves, certainly it should be this; yet this is in a manner quite relinquished unto their Chancellors, Lay-men, who have no more capacity to sentence or absolve a Sinner, then to dissolve the Heavens and Earth, and make a new Heaven and a new Earth, and this pretended power of Chancellors is sometimes purchased with a sum of Money, their Money perish with them. Good God! what a horrid abuse is this of the Divine Authority. But this notorious transgression is excused, as they think, by this, that a Minister called the Bishops farrogat, but is indeed the Chancellors Servant: chosen, called, and placed there by him, to be his Cryer in the Court; no better, than when he hath examined, heard, and sentenced the Cause, then the Minister (forsooth) pronounces the Sentence. Just as a Rector of a Parish Church should exclude any of his Congregation, and lock him out of the Church, then comes the Clerk, shews and jingles the Keys, that all may take notice that he is excluded. And by this Authority the Chancellor takes upon him to Sentence, not only Lay-men, but Clergy-men also brought into his Court for any delinquency, and in the Court of the Archies, there they sentence even Bishops themselves. This is a common practice in latter Ages, but in St. Ambrose his time so great a wonder, as with amazement cryeth out against the Emperor Valentinian, when he took upon him to judge in such cases, saying, When was it ever heard of since the beginning of the World, that Lay- men should judge of Spirituals, (he means in spiritual things, not in temporal things, which by the Laws of God and Man belongs to the Lay Magistrate.) This was that Ambrose of whom the other great Emperour, as good as Great Theodosius, Father to this Valentinian affirmed, Ambrose only knew how to act the Bishop, and with all Christian humility this great Emperour submitted to the Sentence of this godly Bishop, denying him entrance into the Church for the cruelty acted by his Souldiers at Thessalonica by his command; and upon his great Repentance and Penitence performed six months together, and after publick Confession in the Church, was again absolved and joyfully received into the Church. Oh my great and Reverend Fathers of the Church the Bishops, whom Christ hath cleaved to his high Dignity, whom he hath made Kings and Princes, whom he hath called to sit with him on his Throne, there to give Sentences of Eternal Life, or Eternal Death; can you so tamely part with this prime Flower of your Crown, yea the very Apex of it, and suffer the Lay Members of the Church to usurp this Divine Authority? Or how can you answer it to the chief Bishop of our Souls, if any one Soul by the ill management of the Chancellours should certainly perish? shall not his blood be required at your hands? But perchance some of you will answer, 'tis no fault of yours, but of your Predecessors, who gave such Patents unto them, as by vertue thereof they exercise this power, will ye, will ye. 'Tis too true, and I remember when the Bishop of Wells, hearing of a cause corruptly managed, and coming into the Court to rectifie it, the Chancellor Dr. Duke fair and mannerly bad him be gone, for he had no power there to act any thing, and therewithall pulls out his Patent sealed by the Bishop's Predecessor, which like Perseus's Shield with the Gorgons Head frighted the poor Bishop out of the Court. Where are you Parliament-men, you great Sons of the Church so zealous for Episcopall Government, yet suffer this principal part of it to be thus alienated and usurped by Lay-men? If an unordained person take upon him to Pray or Preach, with what our cries and severe Laws, and with great reason also, you fall upon him; but if an unordained Person take upon him to judge, sentence, and excommunicate Bishops themselves, you calmly pass it over, take no notice of it. You will answer me the Bishops themselves pass it over, yea and pass it away from themselves, and their Successors, for to gratifie their Kinsmen, or their Friends; or perchance for worle; why then should you stir in it. Truly in this you have reason, and the blame must wholly light on them, who do not use all possible endeavours, and implore your assistance also to rectifie this great abuse, which subverts the main Pillar of the Church Government; this is no Ceremonial matter, but the very substance of it, they strain at Gnats, and swallow Camels. For Chancellours cellits to intermeddle in Probate of Wills, payment of Tythes, or any other temporal matters, there is no Scripture, nor Reason to command, but rather to condemn Bishops, should they interpose in such matter for which they have no Commission from Scripture, but rather a prohibition from that saying of our Saviour, Man who made me a judge or divider over you? but then it will be necessary that Chancellors have also power of Temporal Punishments, and not prophane that high and holy power in sordid earthly things; certainly a greater prophaneation than to convert a Church into a Chandlers Shop; the Church is a bulk of sacredly materials, and Holy only by Dedication; the power of its Keys is in its own nature and original constitution Spiritual and Divine; Uzza being no Levite suffered Death for laying hold on the Sacred Ark of God to support and hold it up, what shall he suffer who bring up Consecrated Person, lays hold on the Sacred Authority of God to pull it down from Heaven to Earth? Let them consider nobis Evangelium

But let not the Civilians for this account me an Enemy to their Profession, which no man honours more, and I heartily wish which more of our Civil matters were committed to their management and judicature. The Civil Law is that whereby most of the civilized World is govern'd, and if we will have commerce with them, 'tis fit we should have able Civilians to deal with them, which will never be unless they have profitable and honourable places to encourage them for it is all that will beg of them is that they would constrain themselves within their own Sphere of Activity, (And not intrude into Spiritual and Sacred Matters, committed by Christ and his Apostles to the Priesthood, And so I beg of Priests, that they would not intermeddle in Lay and Temporal Offices. In the time of Popery, when Spiritual and Temporal Affairs were all intermingled and horribly confounded, as the Pope took upon him Secular and Imperial Authority, directly contrary to the Word and Constitutions of Christ, so the Bishops and Priests under him intermeddled in all Secular Affairs and Offices, and in this Nation Bishops were frequently Lord-Keeper, Treasurers, Chief Justices, Vice-Roys, what not? which is strangely un-Apostolical and unlawful, their Vocation being wholly Spiritual, as Men chosen out of the World should have no more to do with it, than of their necessity for Food and Rayment. Wherefore to take upon them any Lay Office, which must needs take them off much from the Ministry of the Word and Prayer, is doubtless very sinful; For Mat. 6. we find the Apostles gave themselves continually to these, and would not endure to have these interrupted by this charitable Office of taking care for the Poor, certainly then they would have much less endured to be abominated to be taken off by temporal and worldly Offices. And on this occasion let me speak a word to those of the inferior Clergy, who take upon them to study and practice Physick for hire, this must needs be likewise sinful, as taking them off from their spiritual employment; had they studied Physick before they entered Holy Orders, and would after make use of their skill among their poor Neighbours out of charity, this were commendable; but being entered on a spiritual and pastoral Charge, which requires the whole man, and more to spend their time in this, or any other study not spiritual, is contrary to their Vocation, and consequently sinful; and to do it for gain is sordid, unworthy their high and holy Calling. But Necessitas cogit ad turpia, the maintenance of many Ministers is so small, as it forces them even for Food and Rayment to seek it by other Employment, which may in some measure excuse them, but mightily condemn those who should provide better for them: Whether this belongs not to King and Parliament, I must humbly beseech them in Christ's Name seriously to consider; I crave pardon for this (I hope useful) Digression, and return to the business of Excommunication.

This Sacred Authority of Excommunication being committed by Christ to the Apostles, by them to their Successors, was used in weighty and very scandalous matters, very few examples of it in Scripture: The incontinuous Corinthian Hymene and Alexander, scarce another clearly express. The Apostles being fully guided by the Holy Ghost in all things, did exercise this power singly themselves, but the succeeding Bishops having not the Spirit of that full measure, used the assistance of the principal Clergy in their Diocess; that the act might be more solemn and authentick: the person excommunicated, if he conceived the act injurious, appealed to one or more neighbouring Bishops, who assembled together, and discussing the matter, either confirmed or reversed the Act, as they found cause. And sometimes the matter proceeded so far as to cause an Assembly of the whole Province. But each Bishop, or Presbyter (as St. Cyprian calls him, and declares, that he) was absolute in his own Diocess to exercise his Power, and none condemned for using it, but only for abusing it contrary to Reason and Conscience; these were the only Rules they proceeded by at first. Afterwards when Bishops on this or other occasions met in Assemblies Provincial or General, they made it divers Canons, which passed for Rules and Laws to govern the Church by, which doubtless are very good helps to to bridle the extravagant Passions of particular Men, very apt in this corrupt Age to prevaricate; yet I cannot conceive them so far obliging, but now emergent circumstances may justly cause new and different decrees; yet so, as every particular Bishop is obliged for Peace sake to submit to, or at least to acquiesce in the General Decree of that Nation where he lives; I said, they are not bound intirely to submit to the Decrees of former Councils, either Provincial or General: because I have shew'd before, all their Decrees are humane, not Divine; and all humane Ecclesiastical Laws are alterable, according to the time and occasions by other General Councils.

As to the bounds of each Bishop's Diocels, they were occasioned by several ways; The Apostles, for the better spreading of the Gospel, Preach'd in first in the principal Cities which generally had great influence upon the adjacent parts, by reason that the occasions of, most call them thither; and in these Cities they setled the chief Pastors of the Church, with Power to Ordain Presbyters and Pastors in other lesser Cities and Towns round about, as the Congregations of the Faithful encreas'd; and all those Churches that were Erected, and Pastors established in them by these Apostolic Men in the chief Cities (I humbly conceive in reverence of their worth and Apostolic Authority) were freely observant and subject to them, which afterwards out of custom, grew into a kind of right challenge by their Successors. Sometimes the Authority of the Pastor or Bishop of a City was enlarged according to the temporal Authority of the same, it being the Metropolitan of this or that Country; for so I find in the Council of Nice, and other Councils, the chiefest and largest Authority given to the Bishop of old Rome, because it was the first Imperial City, in Constantinople as the second Imperial City, to Alexander as the chief City of that part of Africa, to Antioch, Jersusalem, Ephesus, Carthage, Philis, &c. where you see that though Jersusalem were the first City from whence the Gospel issued forth, Antioch the second City where the Gospel was planted, and where the Faithful were first called Christians; yet Rome, Constantinople, and Alexandria were preferred before him, and had far larger Jurisdictions so that in a more humane temporal manner, and Men have no farther Obligation to it in Conscience, than for Peace, Love and Order, which in like manner obliges every Man to be subject to all Magistrates within their respective Jurisdictions.

There are yet two things more to be considered in this business. First, Where the Apostles first planted the Gospel in Cities with Authority over the adjacent parts, it was in such popular Countries, where Cities were much nearer together than in these Northern parts, and the Circum of each City was much less in compass, so that the Bishop might well have the Inspection into all, and understand the behaviour of each Pastor under him, to admonish and chastise when there was cause. Whereas with us partly by great distance of Cities, partly by the support of former Princes, several Towns being cast into one Diocesse, they became so large, as 'tis impossible any one Bishop should have a sufficient Inspection in them. As he is before of great Parishes, so here in Diocesses, the Bishop knows not the Names nor Faces of half, or a quarter of them, which tells their Behaviour; he may have as well a part of France in his Diocess to govern. And as for their Triennial and Circuit Visitations, they signifie just nothing as to this, 'tis a meer Money business to pay Procurations to the Bishops, Fees to Chancellors, Registrars, &c. the Bishop indeed usually makes a Speech unto them, and a Sermon is Preach'd by some one of them, wherein perchance good Admonitions are given; but what Knowledge can the Bishop by this have of their Lives, or Doctrine, or Diligence? If he continue long there, he may learn a few more Names or Faces, scarce any thing more. I humbly conceive this ought to be addressed, and the Diocess brought into that compass, that each Bishop may be a Bishop in Government, as well as in Title and Authority over them. But if the Diocess be divided less, and Bishops more increased, where shall we have maintenance for so many Bishops, some having too little already? Whenever I shall see the Clergy of this Nation Congregat'd by His Majesties Authority, resolv'd in good earnest to reform and establish all according to the holy Constitutions of the Primitive Times, and come to this last mentioned, contracting the Bonds, and in number increasing the Diocesses, and Bishops for them, I'll undertake to propose ways both rational and conscientious of providing convenient maintenance for all; but I desire to be excus'd at present, lest greedy Harpies make ill use of my zealous Intentions.

And so I proceed to consider a second abuse in Church Government, which is, Exempt Jurisdictions, a thing altogether unknown to Antiquity, and brought in by Papal Tyranny. The Popes at the height of their usurped Dominion, taking upon themselves to be head of the Christian Churches, to be the Universal Bishop thereof, and all other to be but their Clerg, took then upon them also among other matters, to exempt from the power of any their under Bishops whomsoever they pleased. And out of policy to have the more Creatures and Vassals immediately depending on them in every Kingdom and Nation, to Aikle for them with Kings and Princes on all occasions; did for the most part exempt all Monasteries (who with their near Relations and Tenants made a great part of their Kingdom) from the Jurisdiction of the Bishop; they exempted also several Deans and Chapters, several peculiar Chappels, several Arch-Deacons, and other, and some of these were endowed with Archiepiscopal Jurisdiction in their Precincts, wherein they acted whatever they pleased without controul of any but their Pope ships. All which would have appeared a confused madness in Primitive times, when so many persons have been out of the Jurisdiction of all Bishops, was to have been quite out of the Church, and would have been lookt upon as a Heathen and Infidel; according to the Primitive Practice in all Ages; till Papal Usurpation. And there therefore all these Exempt Jurisdictions are most Papal, and if duly examined, will be found opposite to the established Laws of the Kingdom since the Reformation from Popery, as they are directly repugnant to the Primitive Canons of the Church before Popery was known or heard of. And by reason of these Exempt Jurisdictions great Disputes, and great Frauds arise between the Bishop and them, and the poorer Clergy are spoiled and spoiled by them, both that they are forced to go in shaven bare Coats, whilst the several Officers of both grow fat and fat by Fees exacted from them. Wherefore I humbly conceive the Bishops, with the rest of the Clergy are bound in Conscience to implore Assistance of both Houses of Parliament to Petition His Majesty for the redress of these abuses by Pious Laws, setting the Church Government in the Primitive Purity and Authority, which most evidently was very great, and as greatly revered; Bishops being the Persons to whom Christ and his Apostles committed the Souls of Men, bought with the precious Blood of Christ, to whom be Glory, and to his Holy Spouse the Church, be all Sacred Authority for ever. Amen.

A Charitable Admonition to all Nonconformists.

MY beloved in Christ; you see how earnestly I have pleaded for you to the Fathers and Governors of our Church, that they would graciously consented to abolish some Ceremonies in the Church, that they may receive you into us; but yet I have no great hopes that they will hearken to me, you your selves for whom I plead, destroy my hopes; for they presently thank me in the week, saying, Go rather and possibly do that in that we submit to their Fathers, then Fathers to yield to Sons; and can you deny half of the two you are rather to submit? You think to succeed this by saying, Were it not against your Conscience, you would submit; but you dare not for fear of displeasing God, his holy Word forbids you; I beseech you show me in his holy Word any one clear sentence, against any one Ceremony commanded in our Church; you see plainly I am not hostile to any one Ceremony, and I am sure I have read the Scripture all over several times, and I humbly conceive 'tis not mine of Heins; if I think I understand Scripture as well as you; and for my part I cannot find any one condemning Sentence in Scripture. But you have the Spirit of God enlightning you, which I want; by this rule you may affirm any thing out of Scripture: and I should be as mad in disposing against you, as you are willing to be madnes for a blind man (as you conceive me to be) to dispute of Colour, therefore if you are in doubt of all reason, all reason you bare Affirmation, you that have light, ought to enlighten Gainders, I shall not trouble my self, or you, to gain say you Fatherhood drels my self to others, who soberly undertake to shew me such Texts, as an unbiais Christian willing and desirous to submit to all Scripture Truths (as I am sure I am) may discover the contrary of them; I will desire those sober undertakers to shew me any one such clear Text to excuse their non-forming, as I shew them for their conforming: Submit your selves to every ordinance of man, Eld. 1 Pet. 2. 13. and Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit, Heb. 13. 17. These are as clear as the Sun, that you ought to Obey. Now if the Text you bring be not so clear but doubtful, I beseech you, is your Conscience so bold against a clear Text, and so timorous at a doubtful Text, is this Religion or Reason? is it not apparently Wilfulness and Action? I beseech you my Brethren, take heed of thus dissembling with God and the World, or take heed of giving yourselves up to these Delusions of a mistaken Spirit. Humility and Obedience are evident marks of the Spirit; Learn of me saith Christ, Mat. 11. 29. for I am meek, and lowly in Heart: God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

 Wherefore I beseech you first, put on the Lord Jesus withal Humility, that he may give you the Grace of his Holy Spirit, to discern clear Truths, from conceited fancical Errors. Secondly, I beseech you consider whereof the two it be not later to err in the way of Humility, than to err in the way of Pride, which makes indubitably damnable, void of all excuse, (I say this because you think to pretend to think our way wrong, not that I have any such thought or doubt) whereas the humble Soul hath great excuse to plead; and if Charity cover a multitude of Sins, sure Humility will cover some; a Soul clothed with Humility can't easily be displeasing to our humble Saviour; but clo-yed with Pride, can scarce be acceptable, but rather hateful, like the proud Pharisee, with all his numerous Vertues; and my Brethren, tis most evident your Spirit savour somewhat of the Pharisee, magnifying your own Holiness, and despising all others as Publicans and Sinners, and refusing all Communion with them; whereas the Holy of Holies, our Lord Jesus, chose chiefly to converse with such; really I can't but think your case very dangerous on this account only, were there no more to accuse you of. Thirdly, I beseech you to consider the great mischief you bring upon this Church and Nation by your separation from the Church: You pretend to be the great Zealots against Popery, and yet give me leave to say Your indiscreet disobedient Zeal mainly brings it in; your separation, and many following divisions have have caused many to abhor our Church, and turn Popery, and doubtless you are to give an account to God for the ruine of those Souls; for can never yield that you have any reasonable and true conscientious cause of separation, but meerly mistaken Reason and Conscience, which I much pity, but no way approve, and therefore I must lay the advance of Popery to your Charge, to your Separation, for I am sure 'tis the main Inare wherewith they catch unstable Souls, perswading them our Church is not guided by the Spirit of Truth, seeing it is confounded by the Spirit of Division, it cannot be of God who is both Verity and Unity. Now though it be well known to the Learned, that their Church hath neither Verity nor Unity, yet this is not discernable to weak Souls, especially here in this Country, where their Church is under a Cloud, and therefore their Soul spots nothing so visible as abroad, where it walks bare-faced, but are here by their Priests either with great confidence deny'd, or with great cunning disguised. Wherefore again I most earnestly and most humbly beseech you for Jesus sake, put on our Lord Jesus in Humility and Obedience, submitting yourselves to the Ordinances of those Superiors and Powers which God hath set over you; and if out of meer Humility and Obedience you conform, though you were guilty of some error therein (I am confident there is none, yet were it so) my Soul for yours, that guilt shall never be laid to your charge by our most gracious Saviour, and most merciful Judge Christ Jesus our Lord, to whom be all Honour and Glory for ever. Amen.
